Habib Tells Envoy Delays Will Gain Communists Nothing

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnam's chief negotiator boycotted the Paris peace talks for the second straight week today and the United States declared that "there is nothing to be gained by delay."

The statement appeared to be a reply, if indirect, to the absence of North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy from the talks. He was replaced at the 47th plenary session by his deputy, Col. Ha Van Lau, who accused the Nixon administration of downgrading and "sabotaging the conference."

Ambassador Philip C. Habib told the other side: "It is time for you to join us in serious negotiations. There is nothing to be gained by delay. If your side is willing to talk seriously, you will find us flexible and forthcoming."

Habib, who replaced Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge two weeks ago, underscored President Nixon's statement that "our delegation at these meetings has full authority to discuss any proposal that will contribute to a just peace."

Just Peace

The North Vietnamese have suggested that Habib, a career diplomat, is not a negotiator of the same stature as Lodge or Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, who preceded Lodge.

After the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had assailed Nixon's declaration that 50,000 troops would be withdrawn from Vietnam by April 15, Habib questioned the other side on its intentions.

Concrete Proposal

"We would like to know" he said "whether you also have a concrete proposal for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces that you have sent to South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos."

"We cannot consider your call for a withdrawal of American forces a serious proposal for negotiations unless it is accompanied by an equally specific indication that your side is prepared to withdraw North Vietnamese troops."

Habib took the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to task for "your refusal to enter into genuine discussions with all the parties, as well as your refusal to consider mutual action."

Internal Matter

Then he referred to a statement by the other side that the people of South Vietnam should settle their own affairs without interference.

Does this mean that North Vietnamese forces are prepared to withdraw from South Vietnam and let its people decide their own future? Habib asked.

"Does this mean that under such circumstances there can be competition in a free and fair election in South Vietnam and that you are prepared to abide by the results? Does this mean that you are prepared to have representatives of your side discuss these matters with representatives of the government of the Republic of Vietnam? If your answer to these questions is affirmative, great progress can be made toward resolving the Vietnam conflict."

Col. Lau said Nixon "reiterates his old talk about 'negotiation from a position of strength.' ... refuses to appoint a new head of the U.S. delegation, deliberately downgrades the Paris conference on Vietnam, and carries out his scheme of sabotaging the conference."

Santa Gives Francis, 4, a Baby Sister

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Francis Fairburns Jr., 4, wanted a baby sister for Christmas but his parents told him not this year.

Little Francis and Santa Claus apparently had different ideas than Francis Sr. and his wife, because Mrs. Fairburns delivered a five-pound, 14-ounce girl Wednesday afternoon.

When Fairburns received a phone call from his father-in-law saying his wife was taken to the hospital in labor, Fairburns said.

"Labor? Neither of us knew she was expecting."

"I was shocked. I didn't believe it. I still don't," the 26-year-old father said.

No one, but no one will ever make Francis Jr. believe there is no Santa Claus. Only his Santa Claus came a week early.

"He's the only one not surprised," his father said. "Now he wants to know when she's coming home so he can play with her."

East Germans Seek Dialogue With West

BONN, Germany (AP) — Bonn by the highest-ranking East German delegation ever received in the West German capital. It was made up of Michael Kohl, state secretary in the East German Council of Ministers, and Hans Voss, high official of the East German Foreign Ministry. They were received by Dietrich Spangenberg, state secretary in Heinrich Heuss's office.

It was the first such contact between the heads of state of the two countries since November 1951, when Presidents Wilhelm Pieck of East Germany and Theodor Heuss of West Germany exchanged letters.

The new East German move came after a session of the East German Volkskammer, parliament, which adopted a resolution Wednesday calling for better relations with West Germany on the basis of "peaceful coexistence."

The resolution said the relations should be governed by recognized agreements. It did not appear to include a demand that Bonn accord East Germany diplomatic recognition.

Ulbricht's message was delivered to Heinemann's office in

21-Year Research Ends

Hunt for Flying Saucers Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Edward U. Condon, chief of a panel which recommended an end to the flying saucer hunt, says "there's no reason why the government should spend a lot of money checking up on lights in the sky."

Neither national security nor science were being served, the Air Force said in announcing an end Wednesday to 21-year-old project Blue Book, which kept voluminous files on reported sightings of unidentified flying objects.

"At a time of declining scientific research budgets," said

Condon, "it would be foolishness of the worst sort (for the government) to devote some of these resources to such a fruitless field of investigation."

He was commenting on recommendations made elsewhere that the government now turn over the flying saucer probe to some other federal agency or private organization.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent on Blue Book in addition to the $539,000 for the Condon panel's 18-month study.

The University of Colorado physicist, in a telephone interview from Boulder, Colo., said though there are "plenty of kooks" who claim otherwise, "nobody has produced a shred of solid, credible evidence to support the idea that these UFOs represent visitors from outer space."

However, Condon emphasized the panel's January report, "also said that if any scientist came up with a clearly defined, specific proposal for study, and he was professionally qualified ... he should be supported."

No Evidence

While there is no evidence of interplanetary visitors, he said,

Nixon Asks For Cutback In Spending

'Economy at Stake'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says his fight against inflation is in danger but could be rescued if Congress forgets "the cost in political popularity" and cuts down federal spending.

"At stake is nothing less than the future of the American economy," Nixon said in a Dutch-uncle letter sent to House and Senate leaders Wednesday.

The President said his $192.9 billion federal spending ceiling is threatened by $6 billion in rising costs that are beyond his control and added millions dictated by congressional action—and inaction.

The letter, timed to coincide with Congress' efforts to pass a tax reform bill and complete action on appropriation measures for the current fiscal year, also said:

Responsible Path

"The responsible path toward protecting the buying power of the consumer's dollar is clear. But the Congress has not appeared willing to take that path."

The keynote of Nixon's 1,200-word message was responsibility. "The Congress, along with the executive branch, carries the responsibility for the economic health of the nation," he told the leaders.

Nixon coupled his plea for responsibility with a new attack on the tax reform bill, now before a conference committee for long hours each day in an effort to compromise the Senate and House versions.

Substitution

"The Congress appears to be well on its way to substituting tax reduction for tax reform," he said. "This will harm rather than help the average taxpayer. Sugar-coating a bitter pill is understandable, but all sugar-coating and no pill will not help the patient."

"A tax cut for some citizens would mean a rise in prices for every citizen."

And because of the way money multiplies as it moves from spender to spender, Nixon said, "A billion dollars of federal spending or tax relief can add many times that amount to the escalation of our rising price levels."

Most Unfair

"Inflation—the hole in everybody's pocket—is the most unfair tax of all," he said.

Despite the fact that a combination of congressional

An Average December Day

Fox Cities — Partly cloudy with little temperature change tonight and Friday. Low tonight near 15 high Friday near 25. Wind northwest at 8-15 m.p.h. tonight and Friday. Precipitation probability 20 per cent tonight and 10 per cent Friday.

action and inaction "would load an additional $5 billion onto an already overheated economy," Nixon said, "recent Senate tax actions would, if approved, actually take $1.6 billion away from revenues."

It is this combination of added spending—such as $1 billion the Senate added Tuesday to the health and education appropriation—and revenue loss written into the tax bill that appeared to disturb Nixon most.

Veto Promised

He has said he will veto the bill if it contains both a personal exemption increase from $500 to $300 and a 15 per cent boost in Social Security payments as the Senate version does.

Although he did not spell it out, the combination he described would total $6.6 billion in lost revenues, which is more than the $5.9 billion budget surplus the Budget Bureau predicts for the fiscal year ending next June.

No one speaking for the administration has specifically predicted a deficit, but a member of the Federal Reserve Board, J. Dewey Daane, said last month a sizable one could occur if the income surtax isn't extended, the 7 per cent investment tax credit isn't repealed as a too-wide grant of power.

Jan. 1 Prediction

Battlefield Toll of 40,000 Forecast

SAIGON (AP) — American battlefield deaths in nine years of the Vietnam war will total more than 40,000 by Jan. 1 if the current rate continues.

The U.S. Command announced today that 85 Americans were killed in action last week, 15 less than the previous week. This raised the number of U.S. battlefield dead since Jan. 1, 1961 to 39,827.

For the past six weeks, the total of U.S. combat dead has averaged about 100, and there is no expectation that this will decrease substantially any time soon.

Americans Wounded

The U.S. Command also reported 836 Americans wounded in action last week, a sizeable increase over the 592 wounded the week before. A total of 261,256 Americans have now been wounded in the war.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 421 government troops were killed in action last week, 10 more than the week before, and 1,436 government troops were wounded.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties since Jan. 1, 1960, totals 97,541 killed and 216,128 wounded. The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands claimed 2,396 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, a slight drop from the previous week's revised toll of 2,450. U.S. casualty summary said at least 582,378 enemy troops since Jan. 1, 1961.

These summaries add up to a

Rail Workers Reject Offer For Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — The renewed threat of a nationwide railroad shutdown after New Year's poses a post-holiday hand-to-glove for the Nixon administration following union members' rejection of the biggest wage proposal in their history.

"I'm naturally disappointed," Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said Wednesday. He had directed government efforts to reach the tentative settlement after three days of grueling, marathon bargaining two weeks ago.

"The agreement was shot down by a vote of close to 2-1," said Vice President J. W. O'Brien of the AFL-CIO. Sheet Metal Workers with 8,000 members involved.

Bob Hope Big Hit In First GI Show

BERLIN (AP) — Bob Hope, starting his annual Christmas tour of U.S. troop installations abroad, entertained 7,000 soldiers and airmen in West Berlin's Deutschland Halle Wednesday.

"We are performing here behind the Iron Curtain. But that's the safest place for an act like mine," he remarked as his audience roared.

Hope and his troupe will travel 26,000 miles and play 22 shows in the next 15 days.

Child's reaction to 'Chicken Challenge'

Parents can resolve some of the problems faced by children and youth simply and easily by understanding the "chicken challenge" and the "chicken principle." Parents can resolve some of the problems faced by children and youth simply and easily by understanding the "chicken challenge" and the "chicken principle."

Being challenged in this way can be harmless or fatal, depending on the circumstances and your child's ability to recognize the spirit in which the dare is made. Being dared to pass a note, saying "I love you," to some snaggled-toothed 8-year-old boy or girl is not likely to lead to threatening consequences. The fact that the ground really doesn't open up and swallow him or her can be a useful lesson to a shy child. But of course, there are many other circumstances under which a child's rising to such bait can be disastrous. You must prepare your child to be able to tell the difference.

The possible circumstances under which your child may be challenged by his age mates cry "You're chicken!" are too many to be enumerated. But if you cite a few of them and their probable consequences, you will arm your child with knowledge

Young Hobby Club
Make a Jolly Santa to Peer From Your Window

BY CAPPY DICK

A jolly Santa Claus face to hang in the window of your home is today's fun-project for boys and girls. If you follow the directions carefully, you can make the face look like the one in adjoining picture.

The materials are a piece of white lace (for the beard), a pad of cotton, a piece of red felt for Santa's stocking cap and four small, bright Christmas tree balls for his eyes, nose and mouth.

The piece of lace must be about a foot square. Gather it at the top and tie it tightly with a string. The end of the string should be long enough to be used to hang the head in the window.

On the top part of the lace press the pad of cotton which should be cut round so it will look like a face. A few stitches of thread will hold the cotton not only to the top of the lace, but to the string that runs up behind the cotton. Make the cheeks rosy by powdering some red chalk and sprinkling it on the cotton. A stick of red chalk can be powdered by scraping it with a knife.

Santa's hat is simply a piece of red felt, cut to the correct shape and stitched to the top of the cotton head. For the eyes, sew two blue Christmas balls to the cotton. Use a bright little red ball for the nose, also stitching that to the cotton. A larger red ball should be attached for Santa's mouth.

That's all there is to it. Hang Santa Claus in the window and you will agree he surely is a jolly fellow for all passersby to see.

Your Money's Worth

Cultured and Urbane, That's the New You

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Your spirit, as an American consumer, in the 1950s and early 1960s was "homo acquisitus," the acquisitive. In the early post-World II years you loaded up first with goods to satisfy your basic physical needs and then with possessions, of useful and beautiful things ranging from automobiles to TV sets, radios and records.

Porter

Your spirit, as an American consumer, in the late 1960's, became "homo ludens," with time to kill. In these recent years, you've been buying ever more goods and services to occupy your leisure hours.

Now, as you enter the 1970s, will your spirit, as an American consumer, turn to "homo urbanus," the cultivated, sociable fellow who is trying to make something of himself?

This is the absorbing question raised by Harlow Osborne of the U.S. Dept. of Commerce in a paper presented before the National Industrial Conference Board and summarized in the NICB's December "Record."

Project Patterns

What Osborne is pondering is the life-style our younger people appear to be embracing. What he is trying to project are the patterns suggested by Harold Leavitt's hierarchy of human needs: physical needs first, social needs second, self-realizing achievement third.

That we are moving into an era of vastly expanded consumer buying seems indisputable. Even if the Nixon Administration, this Congress and this Federal Reserve Board of Governors make all the economic errors they can think of, I doubt if they can choke off our economy's powerful long-term uprend.

It's generally anticipated that the growth in your income and spending as a consumer will be close to 5 per cent a year during the next eight to 10 years (good and bad years averaged). To put this in perspective, the average annual growth in the entire 20th Century to date has been 3 per cent; since World War II, 3½ per cent, since Korea, 4 per cent, since 1959, more than 4 per cent. Even if the figure is closer to 4 than 5, wrong address.

per cent, this a mighty impressive expansion indeed.

But where will your spending grow the fastest? How will you make your choice between personal possessions and personal development?

Buy Durable Goods

During the 1960s, the most rapid gains came in durable goods. Our buying of durable goods soared 90 per cent, with virtually none of the rise due to price inflation. This type of spending, says Osborne, "was an obvious and sensible thing to do with the extra $150 a month of real purchasing power added to the average family budget over the period."

But even in the durable goods we bought — hobby goods and books, specialized health products, household appliances, telephones, auto accessories, toys — Osborne senses "a growing undercurrent of interest in self-development, a desire to be healthier, handsomer, better-informed and more sociable people."

What is so clearly implied is an unrelenting and explosive demand by all of us for services.

Old Symbol

Probably being overstated are our demands for such old symbols of high living as alcoholic beverages, restaurant meals, hotels and resorts, home appliances. Probably being understated are our demands for all the things and non-things connected with our social activities, personal broadening and self-improvement.

It has to mean soaring spending for education of all kinds, for art in all its forms, for travel in all its aspects, for health with all its ramifications, for recreation with all its off-shoots.

Doesn't this ring true to you — you cultivated, sociable fellow trying to make something of yourself? It does to me. With you, homo urbanus, I feel completely at ease.

Limits Set for Fox River Pulp Mills

State Stiffens Pollution Rules

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — What were described as the most stringent water pollution control regulations ever applied to the Fox River Valley pulp and paper industry have been issued by the State Department of Natural Resources.

The announcement of the orders was made by Gov. Warren P. Knowles at a four-state conference on Lake Michigan pollution problems held in Chicago Wednesday.

"These orders, in effect, establish ceilings on pollution-causing production by the industry," the governor said. "There can be no increase in production without a comparable improvement in waste treatment."

Fox River Mills
The orders were issued against 18 mills along the lower Fox River. The governor said the only two exceptions are small mills now served by municipal sewage treatment plants.

The orders for the first time establish limits on the volumes of oxygen demanding materials and suspended solids which the mills will be allowed to discharge.

Compliance with the state orders will be required by Dec. 31, 1972. State officials said they intend to reduce biochemical oxygen demand (BOD) discharges to the river to one-third of present levels and the suspended solids will be cut by 40 per cent.

The calculations on which the orders were based resulted from a new computer technique. Under contract with the state, a consulting firm developed a "mathematical model" of the lower Fox River which the governor's statement claimed has the greatest concentration of pulp and paper mills of any river basin in the world.

Pollution Reduction
Knowles said the computations were used to set pollution reduction requirements consistent with the approved interstate water quality standards for the river and to meet the waste treatment levels established by the earlier Lake Michigan Pollution Enforcement Conference.

The governor acknowledged that the new requirements are "stiff" and said that conventional waste treatment and product recovery methods now in common use by Wisconsin pulp and paper manufacturers will not be adequate to meet them.

"Some breakthrough in advanced treatment is needed," he said. "Fortunately, two promising methods are already under study in the state."

He referred to a research project undertaken by the Green Bay Metropolitan Sewerage District in cooperation with four paper producers aimed at joint biological treatment of sewerage and industrial wastes, and a research project sponsored by the Pulp Manufacturers Research, Inc. to determine the efficiency of the "reverse osmosis" principle of waste treatment.

$1 Million Investment

The governor said that the two projects represent a $1 million investment in vital research and are supported by Federal Water Pollution Control Administration grants.

The announcement said that all the municipalities along the lower Fox now provide secondary sewerage treatment, although some plant expansion will be required by 1972.

Knowles said also that regional handling of sewage and industrial wastes is being considered in the Appleton area.

The governor added that the execution of the new treatment orders will not only raise oxygen levels in the Fox River, thus improving the habitat for fish and other aquatic life, "but should substantially improve the clarity of the water and the general appearance of the river."

Regionalism Task Force Meets Friday

Organization of Reeve's Group Will be Studied

GREEN BAY — Members of the Reeve Task Force on Regionalism, appointed this fall by Gov. Warren P. Knowles, will meet for the first time at 1:30 p.m. Friday here. The task force was created to examine the effectiveness of the new state administrative districts and other regional district efforts in northeast and east-central Wisconsin.

More than 75 members and their guests are expected to attend the organizational meeting, according to Dr. Raymond D. Vlasin, task force vice chairman and assistant chancellor for community outreach and research at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. The task force is made up of representatives of 20 counties and is headed by John P. Reeve, an Appleton industrialist.

Reeve and Vlasin will review for the group the current organization of the task force and the proposed procedures for the regional study. Also scheduled to address the meeting are A. J. Karetzki, director of the Bureau of Local and Regional Planning, and Roger Schrantz, director of the Bureau of State Planning. Karetzki will discuss Wisconsin's regional planning efforts and recent developments in the districts under study, while Schrantz will provide background information on the state's administrative districting effort.

The task force plans to carry out a six-month study which will focus on such aspects as districts boundaries, the structure and organization of planning, financing and possible future planning legislation, Vlasin said.

"We are hoping to develop a very close working relationship with counties, cities, villages, communities, planning units and citizen leaders in these areas as we proceed," Vlasin said. "We have already met with regional planning agencies and have received their advice and support."

The task force is made up of three groups.

An advisory committee that will present local views on objectives and procedures will include county board chairmen, mayors, chairmen of regional planning units, representatives of business, labor, voter and service groups, and citizens-at-large.

A technical study group to carry out the required technical analyses will follow guidelines established by the advisory committee.

An executive committee with representatives of the other two groups will facilitate the total efforts of the task force and aid in the interpretations of objectives, policies and procedures.

The area under study includes 20 counties in the northeast and east-central districts. They are Vilas, Oneida, Lincoln, Langlade, Forest, Florence, Marinette, Oconto, Menominee, Shawano, Waupaca, Outagamie, Brown, Kewaunee, Door, Winnebago, Calumet, Manitowish, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac.

At Weyauwega High

Parents Request Remedial System

FREMONT — A letter requesting use of the remedial help system for high school students of the Joint School District No. 2 at Weyauwega was delivered by certified mail to Darrel Johnson, clerk of the School Board Tuesday.

The program is already used in the elementary schools and is available for use in the high schools at the local school board's request.

The letter was circulated by concerned parents and carried the signatures of 244 citizens, about 99 per cent of the door-to-door contacts made. The letter approach was suggested by Leo R. Hilfiker of the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

Kenneth Poppy of the Cooperative Education Service Agency of district No. 8 previously addressed parents and teachers explaining the remedial service available but not yet subscribed for by the district. The service will include remedial assistance in reading, English, mathematics and science. The program is designed to give students a feeling of accomplishment through visiting teachers teaching the student on their own level.

A survey recently showed that 10 per cent of the enrollment could use assistance. Endorsement of the request for school board action stemmed from belief that use of the program already available would reduce high school drop-out numbers and thus reduce juvenile delinquency.

Man Pleads Innocent of Shooting Wife

CHILTON — A 25-year-old New Holstein man charged with attempted murder pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity this morning in Third District Circuit Court.

Robert Wickersheim appeared before Judge William Crane, who also reduced his bond from $30,000 to $10,000 at defense counsel's request and allowed him to remain in the custody of his parents, the Walter Wickersheims, of rural Hilbert.

Wickersheim had been held in Calumet County jail since the July 29 shooting when his wife was wounded in the chest by a .22 caliber rifle bullet. Mrs. Wickersheim, who fled to a neighbor's home the night of the shooting, has recovered.

Wickersheim was sent to Central State Hospital, Waupun, about two months ago, for a psychiatric examination after he was bound over from Calumet County Court. The report indicated Wickersheim had a passive and aggressive personality at different times. This, it said, was aggravated by alcohol and the divorce proceedings his wife has started a short time before the shooting.

A Protest to Hanoi

The American Red Cross is appealing to Americans to "send a Christmas card to an enemy this year."

Specifically, the Red Cross is hoping for a flood of mail to the President of North Vietnam protesting the treatment given American prisoners of war by the Hanoi government.

Hanoi has refused to identify prisoners, to allow any communication with their families, or to allow the International Red Cross to establish such communication.

The Red Cross hopes that a flood of mail from the United States might persuade the Hanoi government to change its attitude. And while there may be differences of opinion in this country on the merits of our continued involvement in the war, there certainly is unanimity of opinion about the prisoner of war matter.

Anyone who wishes to write should address his card or letter to Office of the President, Democratic Republic of North Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam. Air mail postage to North Vietnam is 25 cents.

Integration and Nixon's 'Southern Strategy'

The United States Supreme Court order last week for public school officials in six southern counties to prepare immediately for complete racial integration combined with the earlier court decision that there should be no more extensions for such preparations are particularly interesting in the light of what was called President Nixon's "southern strategy" in the struggle for both the president nomination and the White House.

In An American Melodrama, the Presidential Campaign of 1968, the authors point out that suddenly in Miami Beach it appeared that Mr. Nixon might not capture the nomination on the first ballot despite his tremendous lead over other possible candidates. Governor Ronald Reagan had come out into the open as an active candidate and there were signs that some southern delegates would bolt to him.

So Mr. Nixon arranged to meet with the southern delegations which he had considered pretty well sewed up. A Florida delegate agreed to tape the whole proceedings for the Miami Herald and it makes interesting reading.

When asked by a North Carolina delegate about forced bussing to establish racial integration, Mr. Nixon said he opposed it. But he went further. "And there is another thing that I would like to say with regards to the courts of this land. . . I think it is the job of the courts to interpret the law, and not make the law. I know there are a lot of smart judges, believe me — and probably a lot smarter than I am—but I don't think there is any court in this country, any judge in this country, either local or on the Supreme Court . . . that is qualified to be a local school district and make the decision of your local school board. . ."

Mr. Nixon was true to his word. Once nominated and elected, he showed signs of slowing down integration. The "guidelines" began to become confused. Wisconsin's Jerris Leonard was put in the uncomfortable position of arguing before the United States Supreme Court that the south still needed time—after fifteen years—to implement the integration decisions. Even Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Robert Finch paid lip service to the slowdown.

But there are these constitutionally established checks and balances. The Supreme Court said no, even with its new Chief Justice appointed by President Nixon. "The obligation of every school district is to terminate dual school systems at once." That's pretty definite.

Politically President Nixon came out ahead. If the "southern strategy" is to be used in future campaigns, he can always point out that he tried.

However, a federation might be reached. The blacks are a minority — relatively small in numbers, without inner economic balance and intensely disliked by large masses of whites. Violence or even overt pressure in these circumstances is a boomerang.

The Black Panthers may well be the object of a manhunt carried out by the police of different cities with the approval of the U. S. Justice Department. But what did anybody expect given the strident threats of the Panthers? That John Mitchell would turn the other cheek?

Some Trends Hopeful

Then there are the student militants seizing buildings at Harvard and elsewhere in order to force more hiring of black construction workers. Such actions inevitably strike the white majority as an arrogant abuse of privilege. And to pit Nathan Pusey against George Meany is a recipe for gaining nothing.

But there are issues before

Washington Insight
Liberals Can Act Now to Block New Southern Anti-Black Scheme

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — Blacks in this country are now on the defensive as rarely before. The administration is moving to reverse progress towards fairer treatment in voting rights, school desegregation and criminal procedures. And the administration seems to be supported by the white majority.

So it is not enough, it is not even very much good, merely to decry the baleful malignancy of the Southern strategy. What is required is a counter-strategy. And fortunately, the inner politics of the Senate and House offer abundant means for controlling damage in this dark time.

The first step in damage control is to recognize that the blacks are a minority — including one on Feb. 19, his first message to the Congress. He has committed himself to the principle that the blight of poverty requires priority attention." And the effort of House Republicans to kill the program last week failed, in some part, because the President, while not opposing it, did not go along either.

Then there is the matter of hunger. Mr. Nixon has not accepted the recommendations of the recent White House conference on food. But he has been obliged — despite a pressing budgetary situation and a commitment to an expensive and more important reform of the welfare system — to go for more money to meet hunger than any previous President.

Liberals Can Win

Many of Our Offspring Get Higher Degrees, And Taxes Show It

By JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Greeting a friend I had not seen in several years, I inquired about his son in college.

"He's fine," the friend replied. "He'll have his doctor's degree soon."

Casual. Matter of fact. No boasting. Only the apparent assumption that every qualified college student continues into graduate school, and many of them earn doctorates, which is a reasonable approximation of the situation today.

A few years ago one of my sons earned his doctorate in a difficult field. I was inclined to boast mildly about his achievement, until I realized that a substantial number of persons who listened to me retorted that they, too, had sons in graduate school aspiring to the highest academic certificate.

What About Taxes?

These musings are generated by an unusually heavy flow of mail at this time of the year from persons complaining about their tax bills. This is the normal period for such taxpayer worries. The people of Wisconsin are paying higher taxes, at every level of government, than their grandparents — or even their parents — could have dreamed was possible. There is every indication that a plateau has not been reached. In fact, the chances are overwhelming that the push upward will continue.

But as the avalanche of higher education enrollments illustrates, they are also getting and mostly demanding more public services than ever before.

Without intending to disparage modern educational programs in any way, it is insufficiently understood that one of the reasons for the rising tax cost burden is the steady enlargement of the quantity and quality of service. The doctoral candidate noted above had a grandfather who was a working man who never saw a college campus, except as he may have passed one in an automobile. My son's grandfather was in the same

The War in Biafra Drags On

While a lot of Americans are concerned about the war in Vietnam, another one is back in Biafra, a spokesman for General dragging on with somewhat the same difficulties as to finding ways to ending it. After all, he had received twelve more More Biafrans may be dying from starvation than from bullets, but the war is the major cause of the food shortage and misery.

Somewhat similar to Vietnam, too, are conflicting statements about means and purposes in Nigeria. Gerald Ojukwu, head of the Ibos and Biafra, apparently has softened his demands for an independent nation. He has been making contacts through Geneva, Switzerland, and an Ibo public relations agency there even gave the impression last month that if Ibo security could be guaranteed in another way than independence, some sort of agreement over

Looking Backward
German School Prosperous

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Dec. 25, 1869.

The German school on Morrison Street is in a state of prosperity — a fact which cannot be denied.

This is the undertaking of such men as B. W. Lederer, H. (Herman) Erb, A. Alexander, A. Ruhlander, and others.

The present number of pupils is 65. The classes still are increasing. Many of them are Americans, and, as far as we know, their parents are well satisfied with the method of teaching Mr. Meyer.

The "Schulverein" intend to employ another teacher as soon as practicable. The tuition fees for the present are $1.50 per month for one child, $2.50 for two children, and $3 for three.

The first term closed this week, and the second, we hear, will open on the first Monday in January next.

People's Forum
Egyptian Disputes Writer's View on Attitudes in Cairo

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

Hugh Mulligan's article "Anti-Israel Cause Hollow in Egypt" (November 30 Post-Crescent), is to the average Egyptian such as myself, just another of innumerable, opinionated, undisguided attacks on the Arabs in general and Egypt in particular.

Mulligan bases his opinions about the mood of the war in Egypt on a couple of conversations mostly at the famous tourist bazaar — the Mouski. There, the complaints of a few shopkeepers, weary of the war because it has deprived them of their tourists, is taken as representative of the mood of a nation of 30 million Countless Egyptian lives are being sacrificed each day along the Suez Canal but Mulligan assumes that they are dying in vain because a few shopkeepers put business before patriotism. Take the opinion of shopkeepers and there will be no good cause left in the world — only material for sneers and stench for vultures like Mulligan.

In Egypt too, as in Israel, every other family has a relative serving on the front. But these cannot be reached out of the lobby of the Nile Hilton. And, the reporter who spends most of his time in plush hotel bars listening to gossip and the latest jokes — from none other than other tourists — or conversing with desk clerks, or oggling the strippers in Cairo's nightclubs, is obviously too busy to notice how Cairenes are taking their war.

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

When an official blames "outside agitators" for whatever disturbance is churning up the community, chances are excellent that he safely on the other side.

Speaking of the truth, one of the reasons the world makes such dismayingly slow progress was succinctly put by LaRochetoucauld, when he observed: "Truth does not do as much good in the world as its counterfeit do evil."

Any act of wanton cruelty can be rationalized by a warring nation; whether it is Nigeria against Biafra, or the U. S. against Vietnam, such governments all sound like Hitler weeping over the ruins of Warsaw after it had been demolished by the Luftwaffe: "How wicked these people must have been" he sobbed, "to make me do this to them!"

Much of what we dignify as "motives" is really "impulse"; we may be motivated to shop for groceries, but it is impulse that makes us buy far more than we had intended, and tell ourselves we always meant to.

Whom the gods would destroy, they first persuade of their nonexistence.

New Sentry Stock Plan OK'd Police Crash Stag Party, Arrest Judge

MADISON (AP) — Sentry Insurance Company's revamped proposal for reorganizing a Wisconsin subsidiary won the approval of a key critic Wednesday, and the matter was set aside until February.

State insurance commissioner Stanley Du Rose was told by Sentry a more thorough reorganization plan would be prepared in time for a resumption in February of the state's investigation of the controversy.

But Sentry's president, John W. Joanis, denying any wrongdoing had been intended in the first place, said publicity surrounding the issue has been damaging to Sentry's image.

Management, he said, had been portrayed as "promoting a scheme to line its pockets with money."

Claims by Proxmire
Du Rose had called a hearing last week concerning Sentry's plan for Hardware Dealers Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Stevens Point.

At the same time, Sen. William Proxmire disclosed statements made during a congressional subcommittee investigation.

Proxmire released statements by Bernard L. Webb of Atlanta, Ga., a former employee of the firm, who submitted a 100-word report on what he called a potential $8 million "windfall" for management under the plan at the expense of policyholders.

Proxmire said the "windfall" could have been even greater, possibly $16.5 million.

Officials Not Alert
Webb also was critical of what he called the failure of Wisconsin insurance officials to be more alert.

The plan had been to reorganize the mutual into a stock corporation. Du Rose called for an investigation, saying the plan would be legal under a new piece of legislation which company lawyers reportedly had requested.

The legislation had been submitted by Sen. Raymond Heinen, a Marshfield Republican.

Webb had submitted a list of names to the U.S. Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee. The list included Robert F. Froehke, a former vice president of the company, who said he broke ties with the firm when he became an assistant secretary of defense under Secretary Melvin R. Laird.

Puzzled by State
The name of Gov. Warren P. Knowles also cropped up.

Webb said the company had originally over-estimated its reserves by $6 million, and added he was puzzled that the state would have accepted statements concerning the reserves of a subsidiary of Hardware Dealers, Dairyland Insurance Co.

Proxmire said he was asking the Securities and Exchange Commission to look into the matter.

After Sentry submitted a revised plan to Du Rose, Webb said Wednesday his objections had been eliminated and that he is ready to apologize to anyone he "may have offended."

"But the damage is done," Joanis said.

The new plan calls for a multi-million-dollar reorganization of the Stevens Point mutual into a stock corporation, with control under a holding company. Shares of common stock would be distributed to policy holders in the amount of their equity.

Plush Return

Under the original plan, Webb said, most common stock would have gone to management. Artificially inflated loss reserves, he said, could have provided the owners with a plush return in a few years.

During Wednesday's hearing, State Rep. Edward Nager, D-Madison, stalked out of the room, claiming Du Rose had "gagged" him when a 10-minute time limit was imposed on his questioning of Joanis.

Nager later returned and said apparent reference to an earlier transfer of assets between two companies in the Hardware Mutual group.

Attorneys representing stockholders of one of the mutual groups agreed to exchange suggestions with the insurance commission and attorneys representing management.

Powers Not Inclusive

Earlier, Du Rose expressed concern that his powers might not include the right to rule on the issue of an insurance stock company controlled by a holding company.

The purpose of such an arrangement is to allow the insurance company to make freer use of its capital through the holding company than it would otherwise be permitted.

Another suggestion would protect present management from "raids" or outside takeovers by the use of a trustee selection of directors for several years following a conversion when the company would be "most vulnerable."

Police Crash Stag Party, Arrest Judge

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police, crashed a stag party in a motel room Wednesday night and arrested everyone present, including the judge who presided at the Clay Shaw trial.

Newsman who came on what they thought would be a routine raid saw silver-haired Judge Edward A. Haggerty Jr. struggling to get away. He was subdued and handcuffed.

Police Maj. Joseph Murry said Haggerty was booked on charges of soliciting for prostitution, obscenity, resisting arrest and four counts of assault on a policeman.

Haggerty, 55, of New Orleans, a judge in the state Criminal District Court, presided at the month-long trial of Shaw, who was cleared of a charge of conspiring to murder President John F. Kennedy.

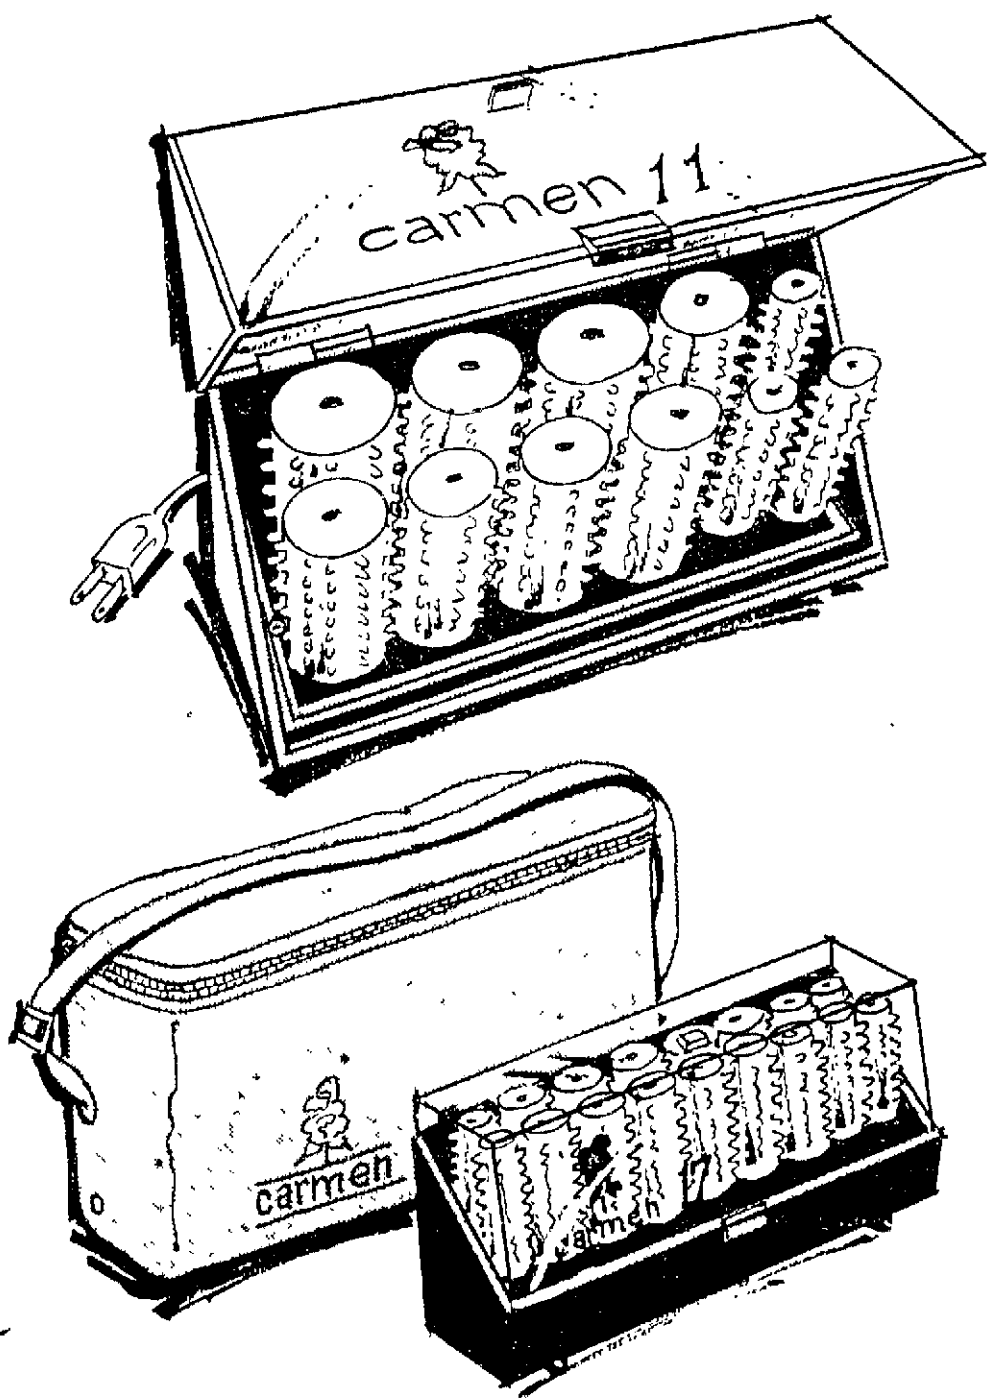

Haggerty's brief struggle with officers was in the full glare of TV cameras.

Grand Army Home Staff Is Boosted by Special Funds

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Grand Army Home at King had its staff boosted Tuesday as the emergency funding arm of the Legislature approved more than $280,000 for new employees for the coming two years.

The state's Board of Government Operations approved additional spending to staff a nursing care building to be opened earlier than expected and funding for new staff members to provide a better level of service to residents of the home in Waupaca County.

The board approved early hiring of 81 persons for the building that had not been planned for occupancy until July 1, 1970. Contractors have told the state department of veterans' affairs that the new structure will be ready at the end of April, and the department asked for the additional personnel funds because of a backlog of applications they have for places at the home open to veterans and their families.

$145,988 Cost

The cost of the hiring will total $145,988, the board agreed.

But the board also concurred with a recommendation by Gov. Warren P. Knowles that the department's second request for the home be trimmed considerably before approval.

The department had asked for $849,225 for the remainder of the biennium to provide an additional 97 positions for ongoing medical and social programs at the home.

The board, seconding Knowles' analysis, approved 15 positions in those fields at a total cost for the remaining 18 months of the biennium of $135,717, bringing the total appropriation for the Grand Army Home to $281,705.

A large portion of those staff positions approved were in the area of nursing assistants, who at the home are called upon to do many of the services normally performed by trained nurses in medical institutions, department head John Moses told the legislative board.

He had requested 41 additional nursing assistants to raise the number of hours per day of attention ill residents of the home can be given, and won permission to add 36 of those requested to his staff at the home.

Loan Applications

Moses also won authorization to add seven additional persons to his staff to process loan applications from veterans. The cost of that addition will total more than $98,000.

The board also granted the state's Coordinating Council for Higher Education $33,500 for additional staff help during the coming year and a half, far under the $100,000 request made by the CCHE.

Council Chairman Harold Konnak of Racine and staff director Arthur Browne told the board that the full level of funding was needed.

If Browne's proposed master plan study of higher educational growth is to go forward, the board was told. The $33,500 funding will only allow the full state funding of existing staff positions from which support was cut by the Legislature during the budget process, the board heard.

The council has been a target of legislative criticism during the past year because of alleged inaction.

Called Scapegoat

State Rep. Byron Wackett, R-Watertown, told the CCHE representatives that their agency had been made a scapegoat at times in the past. Legislative confidence could be bolstered if the CCHE would take control of policy fights in higher education and direct the state's college systems on future growth, rather than allowing the schools to perpetuate studies to justify their own expansion desires, said Wackett.

Also approved was a proposal to continue four special Milwaukee Inner Core programs through Feb. 1, until the Legislature has an opportunity to finally determine whether they are to be continued during this biennium.

The Legislature cut funding of the programs out of the 1969-71 budget, but left in language directing that the programs continue, and failed to take final action on funding measures for them in the fall session.

The board agreed that the emergency funding should continue so that the programs will not die before the January legislative session is held.

Involved are an Inner Core credit union, a day school, a day care center, and a debt counseling service. An Inner Core arts program was cut out of the emergency continuation funding.

Test Poll Against Increase in Taxes

MADISON (AP) — A sampling of taxpayer group leaders indicates opposition to increases in taxes when the Legislature reconvenes in January, the Public Expenditure Survey said Tuesday.

The survey, a nonpolitical government research agency, said its poll showed the taxpayers want further consolidations of state and local government services to reduce spending.

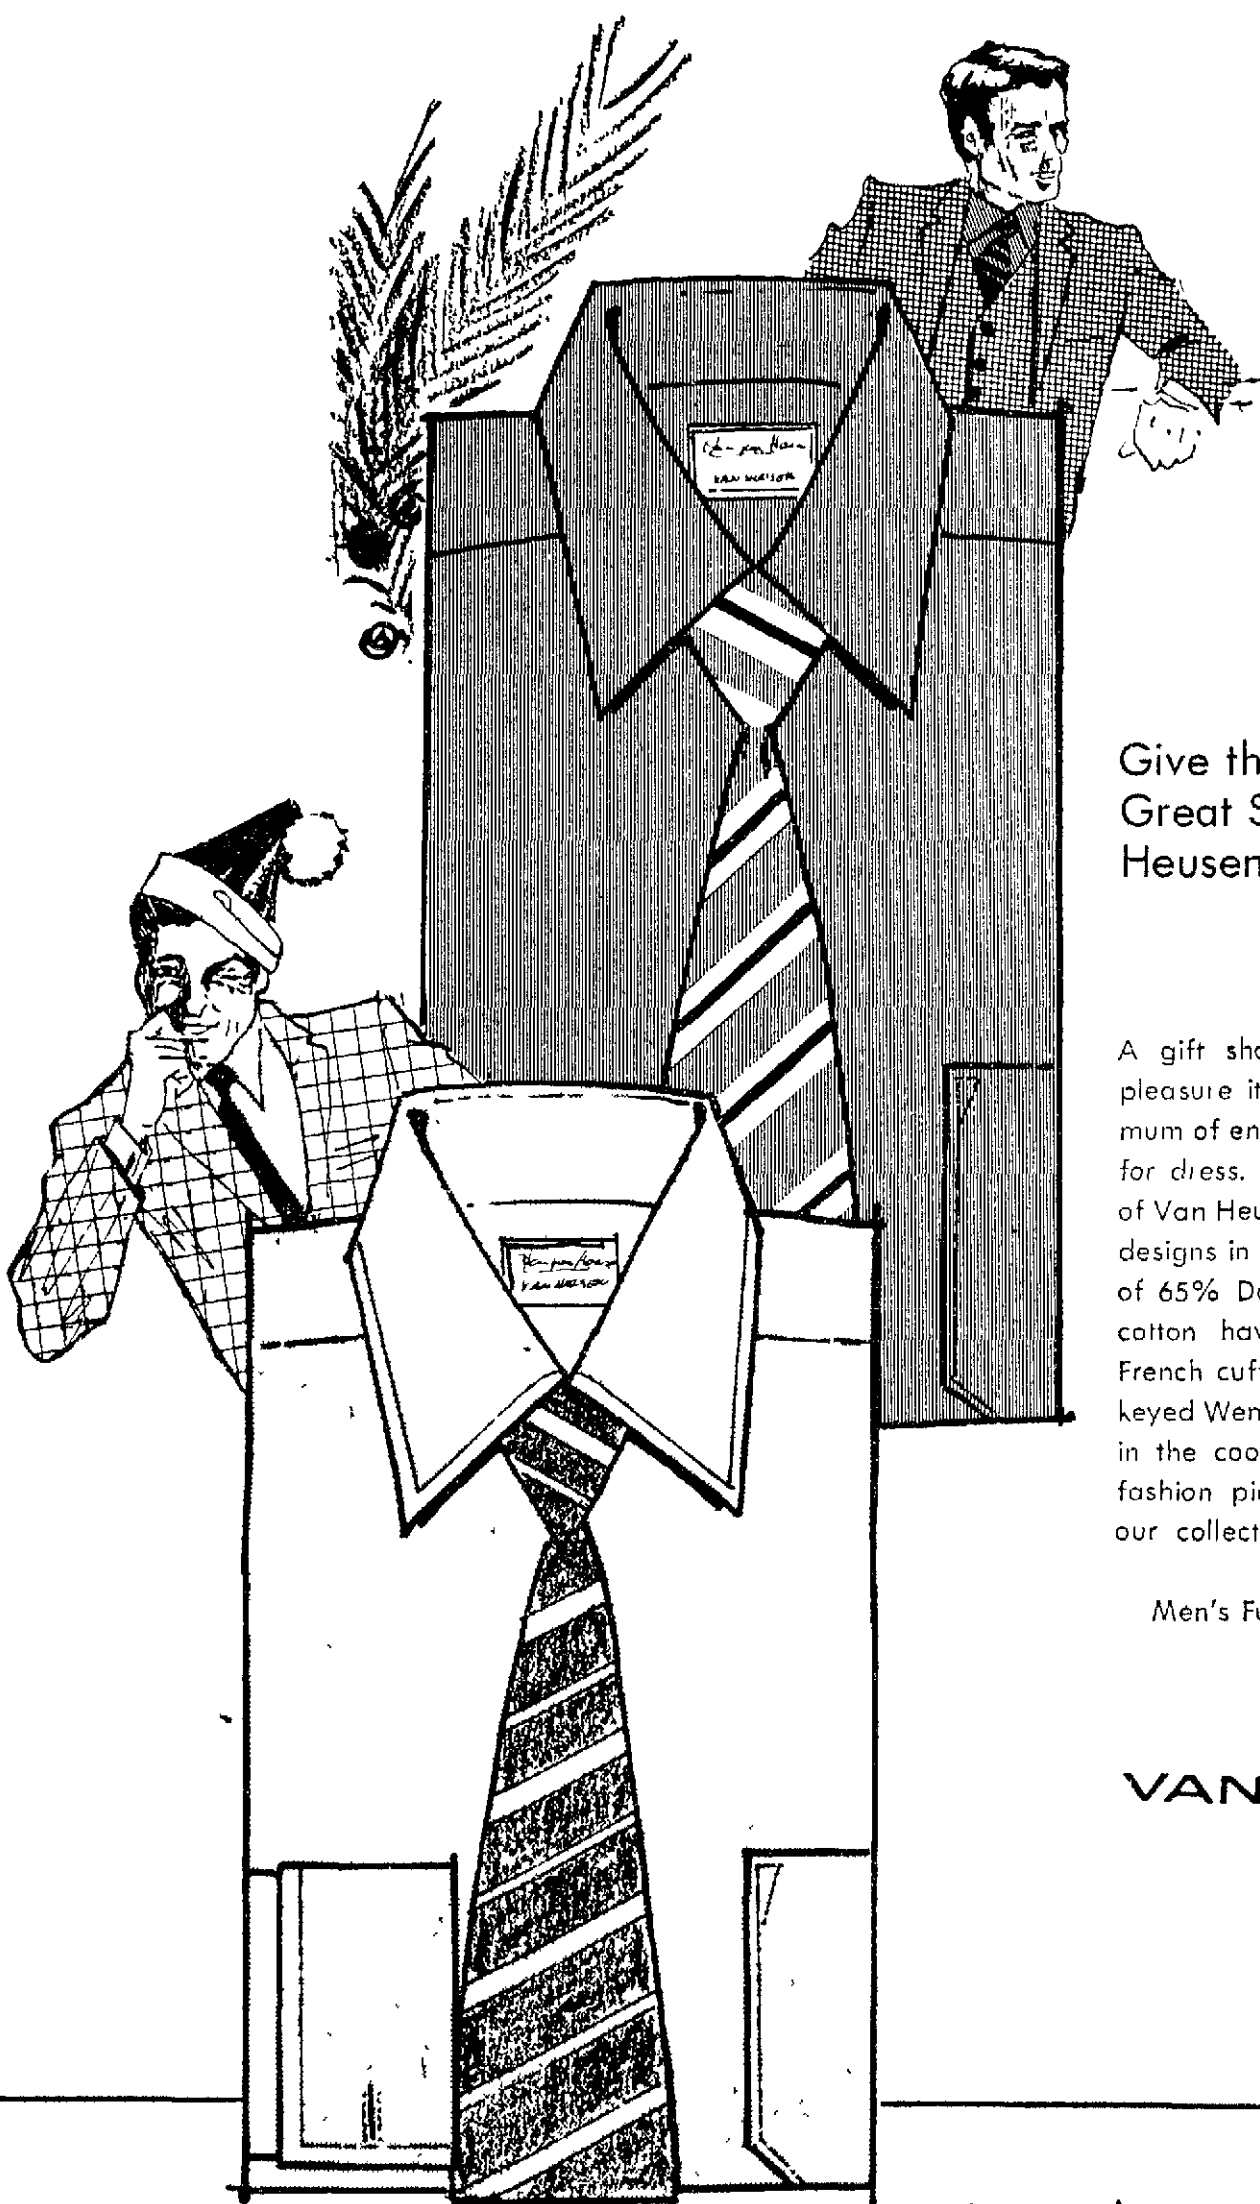

"Wisconsin taxpayers feel that a state general purpose revenue budget already 33 per cent higher than in the last biennium is not dictated by either economic or population growth," the survey said.

Extent of Enemy Force in Vietnam Underestimated

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence misjudged enemy strength in South Vietnam last year by at least 68,000 men.

This conclusion is inescapable after comparing a new official estimate with an earlier calculation of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong manpower for the fall of 1968.

The Pentagon said Wednesday night "revised best estimates of enemy strength in South Vietnam during the fall of 1968 now indicate an enemy force of at least 290,000."

Checking back a rundown issued in early September estimated enemy manpower in South Vietnam as of Oct. 25, 1968 ranged between 207,000 and 222,000.

Public Reluctance

There was no immediate official explanation for the wide variance in the estimates. But it tends to underscore Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's reluctance to deal publicly in numbers.

It also casts doubt on the Pentagon's new "best estimate" that there were at least 240,000 of the enemy in South Vietnam this fall.

The Pentagon put out the new figures for autumn 1968 and autumn 1969 after Laird, under questioning by newsmen said Tuesday: "I would estimate that the range of enemy presence in Vietnam is in the neighborhood of at least 40,000 below last year."

In trying to avoid citing specific figures, Laird said "it's not an easy task" to estimate enemy troop strength.

Recent Increase

He has preferred to talk in generalities about North Vietnamese infiltration of the South, saying there has been an increase within the past few weeks.

However, his apparent lack of confidence in figures raises questions about the validity of claims that infiltration has gone up or down in any given period.

Working level officers long have indicated in private conversations they have little faith in infiltration figures.

Field Estimates

They place greater reliance on estimates of the number of enemy who have entered South Vietnam, as distinguished from those who are in the infiltration pipeline.

But obviously, based on the dramatically changed estimates of enemy manpower in South Vietnam as of a year ago, even these statistics on "order of battle" appear suspect.

Estimates of the extent of the enemy's presence in South Vietnam are made in large part following questions of enemy prisoners, identification of enemy units in the battle area and analysis of captured documents, as well as from such sources as agents.

Stiff Mine Safety Bill Wins Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Caught in a crossfire of threats, the House has decided that the chance of a nationwide coal mine shutdown outweighed the possibility of a presidential veto by approving a stiff new coal mine safety bill.

Passage came on a 333-12 vote Wednesday night after the House turned down a move to strip from the bill a new program of payments to miners disabled by lung disease.

Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Ill., saying he was authorized to speak for the administration, asserted President Nixon might veto the bill if it included the new compensation program.

But members from coal mining districts said every coal mine in the nation would be shut down before Christmas if the provision were left out of the bill.

An attempt by Erlenborn to have the provision stricken failed by 258 to 83.

Administration Making Clean Sweep

Field Estimates

By STERLING F. GREEN Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Produced by complaints from patron-averse Republicans have acted no differently than did the Democrats when John F. Kennedy became president.

"In fact," he said, "the Republicans are a little slow about it, if anything."

"The guys who are complaining are usually the ones who wouldn't be in the government except for the same kind of pull."

Not Common

Flemming acknowledged that "the age old tactics of abolishing jobs" have been used in some agencies but said it "is not as common as people would think."

Asked whether Nixon is satisfied that Republicans have taken effective control of the government machinery, White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said: "We are pleased with the progress. There are some exceptions, especially in agencies where reorganization plans are pending, but the major policy positions have been filled to our satisfaction."

A series of forcecuts have made recent headlines. Latest was President Nixon's announcement Wednesday he was firing Robert M. Morgenthau as U.S. attorney for the southern New York district. Nixon is nominating Republican lawyer Whitney North Seymour to replace Morgenthau, who was Democratic candidate for governor of New York in 1961.

A few days earlier Dr. Herbert L. Ley Jr. was ousted as commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration. Two of Ley's top aides also were removed by Secretary of Welfare Robert H. Finch.

Ley's replacement is Dr. Charles C. Edwards, a Republican, former surgeon, and official of the American Medical Association. The two aides were offered other jobs in HEW; one is taking the offer, the other is retiring.

Final Version Shaping Up $6.5 Billion in Benefits, Payment Cuts Being Deleted From Tax Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Provisions worth about $6.5 billion in either increased benefits or tax cuts appear certain to be missing from the tax reform bill that finally emerges from a House-Senate conference committee.

The 14-member committee has finished most of its work on the measures' reform provisions and hopes to complete action on the rest of the bill by tonight.

In an effort to compromise the differences between the House and Senate versions, and head off a threatened presidential veto, the conferees apparently are set to delete at least nine provisions from the Senate bill while compromising other additions passed by that chamber.

Personal Exemptions

However, the apparently doomed provisions do not include the proposal to increase the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $800. Although opposed by the Nixon administration, this is expected to remain in the bill, probably in reduced and postponed terms, in view of strong support in the House.

Some other provisions enjoy considerable support, but apparently are condemned because of their cost. Even some of their supporters have acknowledged privately they did not expect to see them enacted. They count the favorable Senate votes, however, as a gain that could help advance the proposals in future years.

Among the Senate provisions for which conferees are sharpening their shears are:

Tax Credit

—An annual tax credit up to $325 for college expenses. It would cost $1.8 billion a year.

Medical Deductions

—Full deductions for medical expenses of persons over 65, costing $325 million.

Deductions by handicapped persons for special cost of getting to work, $90 million.

—A special increase to $100 of the minimum Social Security monthly payment—in addition to the 15 per cent general increase which appears sure of approval. The extra feature would cost $2 billion.

Nixon has said he would veto a bill that provided a 15 per cent boost in Social Security benefits and a $200 increase in the personal exemption.

—A $7.50 a month increase in welfare payments; $50 million.

—Continuation of the investment credit for the first $20,000 of annual investment by a company; $720 million, and continuation of the credit for investments in depressed areas; $70 million.

—Authority for the President to impose import quotas on foreign commodities if they injure U.S. industries and come from

Republicans Fill Most of Nixon's Patronage Posts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is putting up a battle to keep his patronage appointments from being filled to the satisfaction of the Republican Party.

Lapin, an appointee of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, is a Democrat in a post that will pay $85,000 a year when Republican John Tower, are son of a federal mortgage banking agency to a private corporation. But more than that juicy patronage plum is at stake.

Though popular in the housing and finance industry, Lapin had clashed with Secretary of Housing George Romney on how to market. Lapin looks like the loser—so far. Nixon removed him on the legal grounds of "good cause"; Lapin has taken the case to court, claiming there was no cause.

The familiar abolish-the-job device was used last week to oust Kenneth Burns, a Texas Democrat who got a $25,000 job last December, a month after Nixon's election victory. Burns, in high places are two prominent members of the State Department. Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law of the late President Kennedy, is still U.S. ambassador to France, and Ellsberg on the rights of "a true worth Bunker remains as ambassador to South Vietnam. There has been no hint of any plans to replace either man. Both were appointed by Johnson.

At the Pentagon almost half of the 29 top ranking civilians were held over from Democratic administrations, and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has even promoted several.

Among these are Dr. Robert O. Seamans Jr., former associate administrator of NASA, now Secretary of the Air Force; John L. McLucas, former deputy Research Director, now Air Force undersecretary; and Barry J. Shillito, former assistant marshals and Navy secretary, now Assistant Secretary of Defense.

Nixon and Laird have moved more slowly than either Kennedy or Dwight D. Eisenhower in shaking up the Pentagon. To preserve continuity in wartime, Stanley S. Resor has been continued as Secretary of the Army. Robert C. Mool as Pentagon budget director and Dr. John S. Foster Jr. as research director.

Give Doctor a Chance For Right Diagnosis

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.
The following letter, while it deals with throat irritation, raises a point that might apply to any health problem, from tooth to teeth.

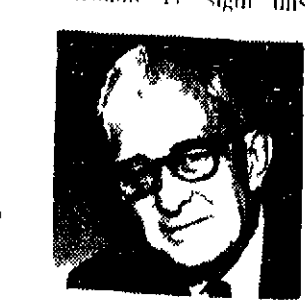

I'll GIVE YOU MY ADVICE unless there is good cause to suggest otherwise. I'll give you my advice unless there is good cause to suggest otherwise. I'll give you my advice unless there is good cause to suggest otherwise.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: For two years I have had throat irritation and compulsive coughing spasms. I thought my tonsils were the cause and saw two ear, nose-throat specialists.

Both doubted that the tonsils, although enlarged, were the real cause and said that in any case tonsillectomy was not encouraged in modern medical practice.

Both ENTs thought it had to do with the sinuses. One gave me something to palliate the coughing spasms, the other gave me a couple of cortisone shots in my nostrils which she assured me would "do the trick."

Fox River Paper Mills Get Stiff Antipollution Orders

State Sets Ceiling on Dumping of Waste

BY TOM TORINUS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON -- Stiff state orders that represent a new approach to pollution control on the Fox River have been issued today by the state. The orders will force all the mills to substantially reduce their pollution of the river, and for the first time set an absolute ceiling on the amount of pollutants each mill can dump in the river.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles announced the orders, issued by the State Department of Natural Resources, Wednesday at a four-day conference on Lake Michigan pollution problems at Chicago.

Knowles said the orders, in effect, would prevent any increase in production by the mills until improvements in waste treatment facilities had been made to prevent greater pollution.

Stiffest Anywhere

State and industry officials said this morning that the orders are the stiffest issued against the paper industry anywhere in the country, and present a stern challenge to the industry to comply.

Overall the orders aim to reduce the discharge of oxygen-demanding materials (BOD) to the river by two-thirds and suspended solids by 40 per cent.

The orders state that each of the mills, by the end of 1972, must discharge no more than 35 pounds of BOD per ton of production, and no more than 20 pounds of suspended solids per ton of production.

An industry official pointed out that the orders will hit the sulphite pulp mills, the biggest polluters on the river, the hardest. Some of these mills may have to reduce their discharge of BOD by 75 to 80 per cent to meet the orders, he pointed out. Some other mills, primarily paper mills without pulping operations, already are at or near the BOD and suspended solids levels prescribed in the orders.

Model of River

The orders resulted from experiments with a "mathematical model" of the Fox River, developed recently by a New York consulting firm. The model indicates that the substantial reductions in discharges must be made if the river is to meet interstate water quality standards set by the federal government, and to meet waste treatment levels established by the Lake Michigan Enforcement Conference in 1968.

The governor acknowledged that the new requirements are "stiff" and said that conventional waste treatment and product recovery methods now in common use by Wisconsin pulp and paper manufacturers will not be adequate to meet them.

"Some breakthrough in advanced treatment is needed," he said. "Fortunately, two promising methods are already under study in the state."

Buckley Wants Out City Welfare War Rages On

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A dermatologist's $19 bill and a $33 bus ticket to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., are the newest casualties in the City Hall welfare war.

On recommendation of the Finance Committee, both were deleted Wednesday from a bill list later approved by the City Council for payment.

The deletions followed by the reading of a letter from Mayor George Buckley objecting to the two items and asking to be rid of the task of reviewing Welfare Department bills in the future.

Buckley recommended in the letter that from now on the bills should be approved by committee without his signature. His reason, he said, was that he is barred by state law from inspecting welfare records, and he doesn't want to be responsible for approving payments under those conditions.

Safest Position

"My position is that the safest thing is to refuse to sign," Buckley told the committee during discussion of the issue.

The bills were for expenses in handling city relief cases. Committee members speculated that the bus fare was "to get some guy off relief." The dermatologist's bill was unexplained.

Buckley wrote that he was unaware it was required for "relievers to have pretty skin," Welfare Director Merton C. Ehrlicke was not present for the meeting. Ald. Walter Kalata (2nd), chairman of the Welfare and Ordinance Committee which has jurisdiction over the department, suggested accepting the word of Ehrlicke that bills are legitimate, and if faults are found later to take action then.

Buckley and Kalata differed over whether unjustified bills would come to light after being paid, however. Buckley said they wouldn't.

No Action

Finance Director David Champion said he had recommended having Kalata's committee approve welfare bills, which then would be placed on the bill list for council approval. The same proposal was raised during the welfare body's meeting earlier in the week and committee members agreed the suggestion should come from the finance committee. No such action was taken Wednesday, however, apparently leaving the subject in suspension.

Ald. Robert Roemer (8th), said it is unfair of the welfare director if he "refuses to explain to the mayor" when bills are questioned. "It isn't the right thing that the head officer of the city isn't allowed an explanation," he said.

Council approval of the revised bill list was unanimous.

Other council action included:

- Adoption of a resolution authorizing borrowing of $2 million from the Marine National Exchange Bank of Milwaukee at 6.875 per cent interest, payable after June 1 next year when the city intends to issue long-term bonds and pay off the temporary note. The funds are needed chiefly for school construction purposes. Bonding has been authorized but the city has delayed on Champion's advice, to await lower interest rates.
- Fund Transfer
- Approval without question of a Welfare and Ordinance report referring to the Finance Committee and recommendation to transfer $6,470 from the relief

North of Courthouse County Committee Ready To Review Land Appraisals

A special meeting of the Outagamie County Board's Public Properties Committee probably will be held Dec. 26 or 27 to review appraisals made of property in the block immediately north of the courthouse.

One of the appraisers is expected to have his report completed Friday and the second by early next week.

The appraisals were authorized by the County Board to determine the cost of purchasing part of the block as a site for a proposed safety building or for off-street parking for courthouse employees.

Supv. Patrick Mares, Appleton, a committee member, talked to both appraisers and said they indicated that they had for complete appraisals on 11 of the 14 pieces of property in the block. He said they reported that the owners of the other three pieces had been advised not to allow the appraisers inside.

In a related action, County Emergency Government Director Howard Rathbun received approval to have Robert Hansen, east central area director for Emergency Government, appear before the committee on the possibility of the county receiving federal funds for the safety building if an emergency operations center was included in the building.

Rathbun said that Racine County received $191,000 in federal funds toward its $2.3 million safety building by including an emergency operations center.

He indicated that space used for an EOC could be used for other purposes on an everyday basis. For instance, he said, the room with the designation of operations room for Emergency Government could have a daily

Chief Grants Permit Kaukauna Vigil OK'd

KAUKAUNA -- There will be a peace vigil in front of the high school parking lot here New Year's Eve, Police Chief William Nagel announced Wednesday afternoon after he granted a permit for the demonstration.

However, he said this morning that he and City Atty. Donald Green would meet again today with the steering committee of the youth group requesting the permit to continue to work out ground rules.

Nagel said he and Green decided to grant the permit after an initial meeting with the students Wednesday. One of the points still to be decided is exactly how many will be allowed to occupy the area on Main Avenue.

The permit is for from noon to 10 p.m. Dec. 31, and plans call for a candle lighting ceremony about 9:30 p.m.

The request from the group of mostly high school students caused a controversy at the City Council meeting Tuesday night after aldermen were informed of the plan.

However, city ordinance grants the chief of police exclusive powers in granting or denying permits of this nature, and the council has no say in the matter.

The fact that the proposed site for the vigil is in front of a war memorial caused consternation among several aldermen.

The youths seeking to hold the vigil explained, "It is a community effort to give members of the community a chance to be counted on the side of peace and justice and to help build community concern for, and commitment to, these goals."

Steering committee members listed on the request include: Ginger Kleffer, Jeanne Peebles, Dave Verhagen, Neal Fleming, Pat Schommer, Betty Vander Zanden, Lee Schwalenberg, Bob Allgeyer, Dan Konen, Bonnie Merckx, Phil Hartzheim and John Konen, all but one students

McClone Levels Blast at Critics of Redevelopment

MENASHA — The chairman of the Menasha Redevelopment Authority (MRA) says he is willing to sit down for another appointment if that would head the conflicts over downtown redevelopment among members of the common council.

Ralph McClone, in a statement issued in the wake of the 8-3 defeat of his reappointment to another five-year term on the MRA Tuesday, said he would make the move in the interest of harmony over the redevelopment issue.

He also questioned the motives of the three aldermen — Felix Ropella Jr., Robert W. narski and Raymond Zielinski — in their consistent opposition to the redevelopment project.

Represent Majority
"While these three aldermen have consistently opposed the redevelopment project, for reasons best known to themselves I feel that a majority of the aldermen represent the will of the majority of the citizens of Menasha," McClone said.

"However, in the interest of harmony and to facilitate the success of Menasha redevelopment, of which I'll always be a strong supporter, whether as a member of the authority or an interested citizen, I am willing to step aside if another appointment can be made that will resolve the differences of these three aldermen with the majority of the council," he continued.

Defeated 8-3
Mayor John Klein's recommendation to reappoint McClone to another five-year term began.

Land Developers Required to Plan Landscaping

NEENAH — Future land developers will be required to submit a landscaping plan along with a subdivision plan to eliminate potential nuisances and hazards caused by ponding of water.

The city council Wednesday night adopted an ordinance calling for a grading plan which would provide adequate drainage of each block within a subdivision.

Wayne Bryan, public works director, called the ordinance "significant" because it places the burden of adequate drainage on the developer.

Negotiator Ok'd For City Contracts

NEENAH — The city council has voted to go along with a finance committee recommendation to hire a professional negotiator to complete the pending 1970 labor contracts.

The man they decided to hire is Donald VanderKelen, Green Bay. His contract calls for $3,200 for up to 175 hours of bargaining.

Ald. Donald Steber, who is affiliated with an international printer's union, commended Ald. Paul Mueller, finance committee chairman, for his selection.

"I had a chance to check into this man," Steber told the council. "And the finance committee has made a very good selection — for both sides of the fence."

Vote for Teamsters
Three more bargaining units were created Wednesday following an election conducted by the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC).

development project. "I realize that a program of this magnitude will attract dissenters, which can contribute to the betterment of the program if the dissent is constructive," he said.

"On anything relative to redevelopment, there has always been a completely negative attitude from Alde Ropella, Winarski and Zielinski," he continued. "Unfortunately, I am not sure they fully understand what redevelopment is."

"The goal of redevelopment is to expand the tax base, and thereby relieve the tax burden throughout the city of Menasha," the MRA head observed. "I have discussed with these people their objections, but they have no alternatives or solutions to the problem" of increasing property taxes and a deteriorating downtown.

"I don't remember them ever attending a regularly scheduled redevelopment meeting, although every meeting is open to the general public. Other aldermen have attended them on numerous occasions," he said.

Vandals Blamed For $1,000 in Damage to Buses

MENASHA — The police chief today voiced concern over a recent rash of "wanton destruction" of private and city property after about $1,000 in vandalism was reported to 10 of 12 school buses parked at the city garage.

The buses began their morning runs 20 minutes later than usual this morning because vandals had shot out the headlights on the vehicles with what officers believe were BB guns or higher-powered pellet guns.

BB Holes
They also put holes in 1 bus windows, valued at between $50 and $75 each, and stole $10 fire extinguishers from five of the vehicles.

The inside of one of the buses was also sprayed with a fire extinguisher, and caps over the power steering and oil reservoirs in one bus were also stolen.

Buses Delayed

The vandalism was discovered at about 5 a.m. this morning, and buses were delayed in going on their morning school runs because they had no headlights to pierce the early-morning darkness.

Police Chief Lester Clark said an increase in the number of incidents of vandalism, especially in the area of the city garage located at 955 Plank Road, has aroused concern in the department.

Vandalism Rash
He said similar rashes of destructive vandalism have occurred in the past, however.

The recent outbreak of vandalism has included damage to car windshields and windows done by BB and pellet guns.

Car Windshield
Other acts of vandalism Wednesday include a report from Jerry Kneabenbauer, 360 Greenwood Rd., Appleton that the front and back windshield of his auto were damaged while it was parked in the George Banta Printing Co. parking lot at Curtis Reed Plaza.

The back window was shot out and a "bullet" hole was also found on the passenger's side of the front window.

Goose Shot
Earl Gilman, 231 Ninth St., reported to police that one of two geese he owned was found shot with an arrow Tuesday, and the other one was stolen.

In a related incident, two BB guns were reported stolen from the Menasha Hardware Store, 212 Main St., Wednesday afternoon.

Three boys seen looking over the guns between 4 and 5 p.m. are suspected in the theft of the guns, valued at $8 and $10, which were found missing at about 5:20 p.m.

Zoning OK'd For Apartment In Neenah

Michael Ellis Leads Change to Approve 54-Unit Structure

NEENAH — The city council approved a zoning change Wednesday night which will open the door for a multi-level apartment complex at First and E. North Water Street.

The change had been requested by Robert Hanley of the Haase Agency who told the plan commission his clients had plans to construct a 54-unit apartment building on the four-lot site, immediately west of Theda Clark Hospital.

The change was endorsed by Ald. Michael Ellis, Third Ward, who said, "I have no objection to this change. I have talked to the persons who plan to develop it and I believe the change would not be injurious to the area."

"There is a need for this type of housing," he added.

Ellis asked William Miller, superintendent of parks and recreation, if the development would have an effect on the Island Park. Miller said it would not, since one parcel on E. North Water Street had already been rezoned for commercial purposes.

"It's unfortunate that the land was rezoned several years ago, but as long as it had, I think any growth of the Island Park was stopped at that time," Miller said.

Plan Procedure
Ellis did, however, take issue with the council and plan commission's procedure in bringing the request to a public hearing.

He argued that the public hearing was not valid because the request had not come before the council prior to its referral to the plan commission.

The issue gave birth to a new ordinance requiring all requests for zoning changes to be referred to the plan commission and the alderman in whose ward the land to be rezoned was located.

In keeping with the new procedure, a request from Green Acres Associates for a change in zoning from R-1 (single family) to I-1 (industrial) was referred to the plan commission and Ald. Lester Herzfeldt, Sixth Ward.

Referendum on Terminal?

MENASHA — Town of Menasha Chairman Roland Kampop has joined another Winnebago County board supervisor in supporting a resolution calling for a county-wide referendum on the proposed $2.8 million terminal building at Wittman Field.

The resolution was originated by Herman Brandt, Town of Omro, and Kampop signed it. The resolution, however, has not come before the county board and will not until its Dec. 30 session.

Kampop said today, "I supported the call for a referendum to see if the people want to spend $2.8 million on a terminal."

"A couple of years ago, airport backers had asked for more baggage space. Now the additional baggage space has turned into a $2.8 million new terminal building," Kampop said.

"The airport can get along with a baggage room out there. They don't need a monument," he added.

"Everyone I talk to outside the county board says the county needs the terminal building like it needs a hole in the head," Kampop stated.

"If they need a baggage room, it should be built on the existing terminal. We don't have an O'Hare Field out there. There's only one airline and there's no one sitting around for hours waiting for a change of flights," he said.

He predicted defeat for the terminal if the question went to a referendum. To put the issue to a vote the resolution would require a two-thirds vote of the county board when it meets in two weeks.

Man Pleads Innocent of Shooting Wife

CHILTON — A 25-year-old New Holstein man charged with attempted murder pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity this morning in Third District Circuit Court.

Robert Wickersheim appeared before Judge William Crane, who also reduced his bond from $30,000 to $10,000 at defense counsel's request and allowed him to remain in the custody of his parents, the Walter Wickersheims, of rural Hilbert.

Wickersheim had been held in Calumet County jail since the July 29 shooting when his wife was wounded in the chest by a .22 caliber rifle bullet. Mrs. Wickersheim, who fled to a neighbor's home the night of the shooting, has recovered.

Wickersheim was sent to Central State Hospital, Waupun, about two months ago, for a psychiatric examination after he was bound over from Calumet County Court. The report indicated Wickersheim had a passive and aggressive personality at different times. This, it said, was aggravated by alcohol and the divorce proceedings his wife has started a short time before the shooting.

Antipollution Orders Issued For Fox Mills

will be substantially improved. Frangos said he believed that the new orders would meet with the approval of federal officials, who recently have declared a crackdown in river basins across the country and have mentioned the Fox River specifically.

Several weeks ago Carl Klein, assistant secretary of the interior, announced that a team of federal investigators would come into the Valley to check on pulp and paper mill performance. Frangos said the federal investigators have never come to the state.

The state official was optimistic about future uses of the mathematical model. After improvements are made in the model, it will be used as the basis for "more sophisticated" antipollution efforts on the Fox, he said.

One of the measures now being considered is an automatic water monitoring system to keep constant check on water quality and pollution sources, he said.

Gov. Knowles pointed out that all municipal sewage treatment plants on the river now provide secondary sewage treatment, but some are under orders to expand their capacity by 1972. These improvements also must be made on schedule if the river is to come up to desired quality, he indicated.

City Hall Will Have Its Own Holiday Tree

Appleton municipal office girls set out today to deck City Hall with boughs of spruce, aided with a free tree donated by a south side citizen and an unlimited expense account from the City Council.

Thomas Heiss, 212 E. Harding St., donated the tree from a plantation north of the city.

Mrs. Cris Schreiber, Mayor George Buckley's secretary and chairman of the Christmas tree committee, said plans were to attempt to put up the tree and decorate it sometime today.

She estimated the tree, which will stand in the main corridor at City Hall, eight or nine feet tall.

Wednesday night the City Council approved a Board of Public Works recommendation to allow funds to be spent on the project proposed by office workers in the building.

The fund contains no limit, but it had been estimated up to $50 might be needed before Heiss made his contribution.

The custom of putting up a tree in the building had been discontinued as a fire hazard several years ago, but Fire Chief Roland Kuehl has said fireproofing materials now available will avert the danger.

A stand, lights and decorations were still to be acquired, the old ones long since having vanished. Two trees outside the building are decorated with white lights and a creche, and small trees have been erected in individual offices.

Regionalism Task Force Meets Friday

out a six-month study which will focus on such aspects as districts boundaries, the structure and organization of planning, financing and possible future planning legislation, Vlasin said.

"We are hoping to develop a very close working relationship with counties, cities, villages, communities, planning units and citizen leaders in these areas as we proceed," Vlasin said. "We have already met with regional planning agencies and have received their advice and support."

The task force is made up of three groups.

An advisory committee that will present local views on objectives and procedures will include county board chairmen, mayors, chairmen of regional planning units, representatives of business, labor, voter and service groups, and citizens-at-large.

A technical study group to carry out the required technical analyses will follow guidelines established by the advisory committee.

An executive committee with representatives of the other two groups will facilitate the total efforts of the task force and aid in the interpretations of objectives, policies and procedures.

The area under study includes 20 counties in the northeast and east-central districts. They are: Oneida, Lincoln, Lang, Lapeer, Florence, Marquette, Oconto, Menominee, Shawano, Waupaca, Outagamie, Brown, Kewaunee, Door, Winnebago, Calumet, Manitowish, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac.

Mayor Tries

Peace Brief in City Council

Everybody talks peace, but not many practice it.

Mayor George Buckley was on the receiving end of a peace lecture after having delivered one himself earlier in the evening during Wednesday night's City Council meeting.

The mayor opened the session with merry Christmas wishes for those present, telling aldermen, "Be kind to each other tonight."

As the meeting closed, Ald. Orville Strutz (17th) asked Buckley what the mayor's recently revealed "honor roll" of aldermen cost the taxpayers.

"About 4 cents," replied Buckley.

The list of six aldermen is typed on a sheet of City Hall stationery, bears the mayor's seal and is hung in a frame in the waiting room.

Some of the six wore paper

"Hero" stickers they had put on earlier. Strutz told Buckley that he should refrain from such actions, acting instead as a baseball manager or football coach to make city officials work as a team.

"Something like this just goes to create further dissension," Strutz lectured the mayor.

"Well, there goes our peace on earth shot to hell," observed Buckley.

workmen's compensation, general liability, fleet liability and non-ownership liability insurance for the coming year to Coffey Agencies, Inc., of Appleton, at a bid price of $54,687, the lower of two bids by more than $20,000.

Holding of an executive session to permit aldermen and other officials to discuss fringe benefits to be granted next year to department heads.

Granting of a request changing zoning on property on the south side of W. College Avenue just west of Douglas Street from residential to commercial to permit establishment of a women's wear boutique shop. Aldermen overrode advice of the plans commission to deny the request on grounds neighboring property recently was rezoned similarly, but with commission approval.

Passage of a preliminary resolution vacating E. Roosevelt Street between Roosevelt School and Erb Park to permit shifting the school play area which has been reduced by expansion of the building.

Acceptance without comment of a Streets and Sanitation Committee recommendation to sell a home at 213 E. Prospect St. bought previously by the city for Oneida Street high-level bridge right-of-way but found unneeded by Public Works Director Robert Miller. Normal sale procedures still must follow.

Man Named to Civic Advisory Committee

Carl Sorcie, 614 E. Summer St., a local building trades union official, has succeeded Marvin DeVries on the Citizens Advisory Committee.

Mayor George Buckley made the appointment, which was approved by the City Council Wednesday night after the council accepted the resignation of DeVries who also is a labor representative on the committees.

Committee on Budget Draws Mayor's Ire

A proposal for a special committee to offer guidelines for preparing the 1971 Appleton city budget met with immediate scorn from Mayor George Buckley Wednesday night.

Three aldermen submitted a resolution suggesting that the mayor appoint a committee including the chairman of the council Finance Committee, representatives of the Appleton Taxpayers Association, the League of Women Voters and the American Association of University Women, and "an accountant."

Buckley's reaction was, "We left out the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts. I suppose we could put them in, too."

City Clerk Elden Broehm automatically referred the item to the finance committee.

Aldermen Arthur Hoolihan (11th), Walter Kalata (2nd) and George Schwarzbauer (10th) signed the resolution.

Buckley and Finance Director David Champion have been assailed from several sides this year both over handling of the mayor's executive budget proposals for 1970 and on finance department operations in general.

Nelson, Obey Submit Joint Legislation

Support Payments May be Denied to Tax-Loss Farmers

WASHINGTON — Seventh District Rep. David Obey, D-Wausau, and Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., co-sponsored legislation introduced today in the House and Senate to bar what they call "tax-loss hobby farmers" from receiving federal farm grants or price support payments.

Payments under the wool, cotton, feed grain, wheat, rice, soybean and flax programs would be withheld from persons using farming as a tax shelter. The measure is being introduced now for consideration early next year in the agricultural committees of the two legislative houses.

Obey and Nelson said Internal Revenue Service information shows 264,000 farmers who reported losses also collected $272 million in farm program payments.

Nelson and Obey said their bill is designed to avoid injuring family farmers who may suffer legitimate losses. "It would affect the so-called 'farmer' who loses at least $30,000 in a five-year period and who cannot show that he is faring with an expectation of making a profit," the two Democrats said in a joint news release.

They said more than 56 percent of the nation's farmers receive only 11 percent of all federal farm payments, with most of these being paid $200 to $499 per year.

Obey and Nelson charged that on the other hand many others "are not only milking the Federal Treasury for upwards of $600 million per year by claiming tax losses, but at the same time are accepting grants in aid or assistance payments for not farming, when they had no intention of doing so in the first place."

College Dean Held Captive By 85 Blacks

Post-Crescent News Service
MARQUETTE, Mich. — A vice president from Northern Michigan University was held captive by 85 black students early today at the climax of a 19-hour seizure of the university's student personnel offices.

Dr. Allan L. Niemi, vice president for student affairs, was forcibly held and threatened with a wooden club, while the black students awaited the outcome of a hearing involving the suspension of a black student.

Niemi was held captive for 35 minutes, beginning at 3 a.m., after he entered his office alone to investigate reports of windows being broken.

Final release of Niemi came after NMU President John X. Jemrich announced to the black students that Charles Griffith, a student previously charged by the school's student judiciary committee of having a girl in his dormitory room after hours, was found not guilty by the faculty-student judiciary.

Sunset Lake to be Cleared for Skating

KIMBERLY — Approximately 15-foot open water, particularly in the half of the swimming lake developed at Sunset Point Park, will be used this winter for ice skating, according to Patrick Flanagan, street department superintendent.

Two other neighborhood rinks will be located at the Washington Street triangle and Roosevelt Park. Crews are flooding neighborhood rinks in an effort to have them ready for the Christmas vacation period. The Sunset Lake area is frozen and ready for skaters.

Flanagan warned only the south portion of the lake will be utilized for skating because the northern area has patches of ice. Skating will not be permitted without a supervisor on hand. Hours during the Christmas vacation will be from 1 to 9 p.m. During regular school days supervision will be provided from 4 to 9 p.m.

Flanagan requested parents to warn children skating at Sunset Lake to stay away from contractor machinery and materials in the area or doing damage to the building partially constructed. He also said adults should accompany their children when skating, providing added supervision and helping to reduce chances of vandalism.

A parking area near Sunset Lake will be cleared and the gate to the lake will be closed when skaters are not to use the facility. Flanagan noted, that weather permitting, the neighborhood rinks should be ready for use next week.

Lights are to be erected temporarily for the Sunset Lake skating facility.

UWGB Gets A Break on Library Bids

MADISON — State officials were pleased Wednesday when the total of the low bids for the construction of a library and learning center at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay were about a third below the cost estimates.

The State Bureau of Engineering said that five base contracts, according to the apparent low bids, would cost about $4,524,133.

The engineering bureau said the contracts will be signed in about two weeks, and that excavation preliminary to construction will begin immediately thereafter.

It is estimated that the building will require 22 months to complete.

Apparent low bidder for general construction was Fluor Brothers Construction Co., Oshkosh, at $3,176,000.

Other low bids were Plumbing — Superior-Kuethmeyer, Milwaukee, $126,300; heating, ventilative and air conditioning — H. F. Ahorn, Fond du Lac, $553,750; electrical installation — Household Utilities, Inc., Kiel, $529,500; elevators — NorthWestern Elevator, Milwaukee, $138,493.

County Park Snowmobile Limits Urged

Snowmobilers may have to carry a ruler with them if they wish to operate in Outagamie County parks.

The parks and recreation committee is recommending a county ordinance that there be a minimum of four inches of snow on the ground before snowmobiles are allowed in the parks.

The four-inch snow cover proposal is one of several restrictions proposed to control the operation of snowmobiles in parks because of the conflict between snowmobiling and sledding.

Other proposed restrictions include requirement of a drivers license for the snowmobile operator, an annual $2 park permit fee, and restriction of snowmobiles to designated trails.

Numerous complaints have been received regarding the operation of snowmobiles on areas used for sledding at Plamann Park.

The proposed regulations will be submitted for county board action Jan. 13 along with changes in the speed limit and parking restrictions at Plamann Park.

Ping Pong Table Bearers Lose It, Get Ticketed

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A truck crushed the Christmas present and the teachers were ticketed—leaving the children of Southwick Elementary School without a ping pong table

Bobby Thomas and Woody Schwartz, interns in the federal ly financed Teachers Corps, had bought the table with money donated by them and the school's six other intern teachers.

But as they drove to the school with the table on top of a car, it flew off onto an express way. They stopped, but before they reached the table a truck had smashed it

Then two policemen issued them a ticket for illegally parking on the expressway.

They returned to the school, table-less, and the interns made mun contributions—to collect money to pay the traffic ticket.

Dr. Jorris noted that he would like to see every child in the state, between one and puberty, vaccinated against German measles. The cost, however, is prohibitive at this time for the State of Wisconsin to undertake such a large project.

Tragic Disease
"Because of the lack of funds, we must do the next thing possible," he said. "We must let everyone in the state know just how tragic the disease is and how important it is to be immunized, then hope individuals will take it upon themselves to see their doctor for the immunization"

Pregnant women, however, should not be immunized

"Although adults can receive the vaccine, it is not given to pregnant women because of the possible damage to the unborn child," he added. "Doctors don't like to vaccinate women of child-bearing age because pregnancy within two months of the immunization might be harmful to the pregnancy"

3 Specials Dominate TV Scene

BY TV SCOUT
7-8 — Channel 5 — It's a night of specials on NBC, with Bing Crosby and Carol Burnett providing very bright moments in Girl concludes its two-parter set Together Again for the First Time Juliet Prowse and Roy determined to gain revenge on Clark join the fun, she dancing guest Jack Cassidy for a cruel "Malaguena" as Clark plays it on his guitar. The high spot has to be a scene filmed in Bullock's Whilshire store in Los Angeles, with Carol as a dispirited char-woman and Bing as the janitor and some Christmas magic in which toys come to life.

8-9 — Channel 5 — If Bing Crosby comes, can Bob Hope be far behind? Chrysler Presents the Bob Hope Special has Anthony Newley teaming with Bob for a "Midnight Cowboy" spoof, with Newley planning to become a European "bird" distributor as soon as he can tell birds from boys. Andy Williams appears as Dr. Sigmund Freud, trying to get Elke Sommer to appear on his how (look for a surprise guest as a "punch line"). Hope also introduces the Look All-American Football Team.

6:30-7 — Channel 5 — The Little Drummer Boy, seen last year for the first time, is a totally charming, animated puppet version of the Christmas song about the little boy with "no gift for the King." Greer Garson narrates and Teddy Eccles provides the boy's voice. The Vienna Choir Boys sing Christmas carols.

6:30-7 — Channels 2-7 — Ida Lupino makes an infrequent TV acting appearance on Family Affair. Seems Brian Keith is summoned to England for a business meeting with a wealthy, titled English widow, who is instructed to bring along French (Sabastian Cabot). Turns out the widow used to be "Maude," a former barmaid who calls him "ducks."

7-7:30 — Channels 11-9 — That Americanization of Emily," as it has been cut for tv, turns out to be a romantic comedy with not too much significance on The Thursday Night Movies. James Garner, Julie Andrews, Melvyn Douglas and James Coburn star in what was, in the movies, a racy, sardonic, black comedy.

8-9 — Channels 2-7 — Bill Munnell, Frankie Vaughan and Dana appears as himself, as Pat Cooper are the guests on Jose Jimenez and as a lot of This Is Tom Jones, in a show that has the three vocalists really contributing a foot-lapping medley.

9-10 — Channels 11-9 — All of the action on It Takes a Thief either takes place in Al's apartment or SIA headquarters. Robert Wagner is bringing Tina Sinatra (Frank's daughter) home after a date. Only he finds his apartment occupied by, among others, the head of "their Bewitched manages to have a SIA" (Wilfrid Hyde-White). He Christmas story that is both forces Al to lure the head of amusing and true to the spirit "our SIA" (Joseph Cotten) to the season. Esmeralda acci-dentally sneezes Santa into the him into a trunk and take him Stephens' home, and while wait-behind the Iron Curtain.

Fashion Cottoning to Knits With Ancient Past

Trend-Setting Cotton Crochet knitted in an intricate striped pattern gives a 1970 look to the pants outfit. The sleeveless vest and straight-legged pants ensemble above is a Young Edwardian design by Arpeja.

Fashion's Newest Darling is cotton knit with an authentic hand-crocheted look. Designer Vicki Cooper for Ulla chooses this lacy Raschel knit for a snappy little polo dress with ribbed bands on the placket front, cuffs and hemline.

Throughout its long history, cotton has been periodically discovered and re-discovered by fashion designers.

An advance look at upcoming fashions for the new year shows that 1970 will be another time of discovery (or re-discovery) for an "old" cotton that's suddenly as new as tomorrow.

It's cotton knit... turning up now in fascinating new textures that look for all the world like hand-loomed masterpieces done by the most skilled artisans.

These new cottons with their lacy, intricate surfaces are a welcome change from the flat, slick "machine look" that has typified knit fashions for so long. Yet for all their bulky, handcrafted looks, they still retain the lightweight comfort women have come to demand in fashion.

Today there is a whole new crop of cotton knits: bulky Raschels that look like tweeds... open and airy string crochets... three-dimensional nubby effects... cable stitches and ribs... boucles and pebble-looking textures... featherweight jerseys... double-knits in all sorts of argyles, diamonds, geometrics... plus soft velvet-like velour knits.

It's no wonder that cotton knits with their minute variety of new faces have stimulated designers to move in exciting new directions in dresses, blouses, pants and sportswear for 1970.

The Free-Wheeling Look of fashion 1970 is captured by designer Stacy Ames in this T-shirt dress of diamond-patterned cotton crochel. Lightweight and comfortable, the dress comes in a natural string color.

Here's the Long and Short of It

By ERMA BOMBECK
A leading fashion designer said the other day that for every inch your hemline hangs below the knee you can add ten years to your age. For every inch above the knee, subtract ten years.

I understand that like I understand the new math I think what it really means is that little old ladies in orthopedic underwear are walking around in skirts too young to cross the street by themselves.

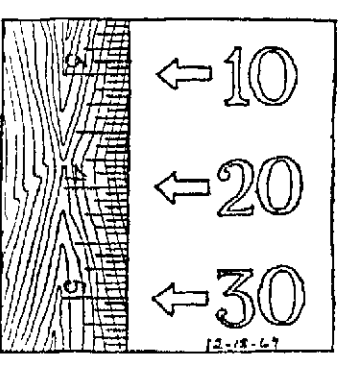

Let me tell you about a coat in my wardrobe. (Who am I kidding? It is my wardrobe!) I started out with 42-year-old knees. The coat hung two inches below them. Which made me 62.

At 62, I felt out of it. I only got one whistle and that was from an old gent whose teeth didn't fit properly. My daughter threatened to destroy herself if I wore it in the daylight. I shortened it an inch.

At 52, I got smart remarks from my friends like, "What a shame your Maxi died before it lived," and "What else does your religion prohibit?" I shortened it another inch.

At 42, I still felt dowdy and clunky. But I told myself I wasn't going to wear a coat that would drive men crazy mad out of their heads. I said this all the time I was hemming it another inch.

At 32, I was on my way but I still had to take a number to get the butcher to look at me twice. When I crossed my legs just right, I saw a bone in the knee and was cheered. I figured, "Why not?" and took off another inch.

At 22, the coat made me feel like an old Nancy Sinatra. I experienced drafts and from time to time had to warm my supporters. I gave up bending, stooping, lifting my arms, reaching for things and sitting. When I drove the car, I draped myself with a old beach towel left in the trunk. My daughter thought I was groovy, so I hiked it up yet another inch.

At 12, all inhibitions disappeared. I was like a child again. My hose went all the way up. So did my dresses. So did my coat. When my husband asked if I had remembered to get my flu shot, I giggle, "That's for me to know and for you to find out," and clipped him with a spit ball. The coat underwent surgery again.

At 2, I am in bed with the flu. When I am stronger, I am going to perform a hem transplant on my coat. Oh, to be 62 again!

Ron Conrad seated guests. The couple greeted guests at a reception at Reetz's Supper Club before leaving on a wedding trip to Land O'Lakes.

Iota Chapter Meets for Christmas Party

Members of Iota chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and their husbands gathered Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Langdok for a Christmas dinner party. Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Gerald Erb and Mrs. John Kobinsky.

After a buffet dinner, the group joined in for music, games and an exchange of gifts. Gifts for the chapter's adopted "grandmother," a resident of Sunset Haven, Menasha, were brought to the party and will be delivered to her for Christmas.

Remove Stains

Rubbing alcohol will remove iodine or mercurochrome stains from the hands... Nail polish remover will take off the gummy residue left by adhesive tape on your skin. If you get resin on your hands from working with trees or bushes in the garden, sprinkle the hands with dry baking soda, rub them together well and rinse.

Tips to Remember

If the neck hanger on your coat is broken, have it fixed at once. Until you do, however, never hang it up by the neck. Put it on a hanger or hang it by a shoulder of the coat, as the ladies do... if your shirt collar points turn or curl up, try giving them a good stretch or tying a smaller knot in your tie.

Go Defensive Against Accidents

The Post-Crescent C 3
Thursday, December 18, 1968

This year why not give your family a gift of safety for the holidays?

Every year in the United States, the period from Thanksgiving to New Year's is a time of unparalleled joy for some families, bitter sorrow for others.

The Women's Bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company urges families to plan for safety, just as they make out Christmas card lists, and lists of gifts for their loved ones.

"Let's keep the jingle bells ringing and the sirens quiet this year," Dr. George M. Wheatley, vice-president and chief medical director of the insurance firm urged.

Advice for Holidays

Former member of the President's Highway Safety Committee, a member of the board of the National Safety Council, and a member of the board of the Greater New York Safety Council, Dr. Wheatley had some advice for all of us at this holiday season.

1. Above all, don't mix drugs and/or alcohol with a motor vehicle. Either is highly dangerous. Together they're fatal. Sedatives are dangerous. People may take them, and forget they have and repeat the dose. Then if they take some holiday drinks, the effect is exaggerated. Even the antihistamine drugs may cause drowsiness. So if you drive, don't drink, but also, don't drug yourself. Remember, motor vehicle deaths totaled 55,200 in 1968. Many of these involved use of alcohol or drugs. Sobriety is safety's best ally.

2. With snow and ice on the ground, extra care is needed. Water or snow should be cleared off steps, walks and porches before it has time to freeze. After freezing, an abrasive such as salt or sand should be sprinkled on icy sidewalks. The elderly should be encouraged not to go out if slippery conditions prevail. Falls on the streets and sidewalks can often result from other hazards, such as broken or uneven pavements, elevated manholes, open cellar doors, wet sidewalks and debris blocking passageways. "Falls" were the second largest category in accidental deaths in 1968, accounting for 19,900 accidental deaths. Be slow in moving revolving doors in department stores, supermarkets and hotels. The elderly very often move at a slower pace than others, and thus, may be pushed off balance and injured.

3. The fifth leading cause of accidental fatalities is the misuse of firearms. In 1968, there were about 2,600 deaths from firearms. The majority involved those in the 15 to 44 age span. Firearms are often given as Christmas gifts without regard for the recipient's age, abilities or mental stability. These are dangerous gifts as are BB guns, archery sets and knives. Good judgment should be used, too, in selecting chemical or electrical toys. Safety considerations should be a prime factor in selecting gifts.

Flameproof Decorations

4. Keep your Christmas tree outside until you are ready to use it. When you set it up, use a sturdy stand that can hold plenty of water and position the tree away from sources of heat. Use flameproof decorations. Inspect lighting sets for fraying and loose sockets and make sure they bear the approval label (UL) of the Underwriters Laboratories. Don't use electric lights on metal trees.

5. Use heavy duty cords for Yule outside lighting. Rain or snow can cause short-circuits in strings of lights not specifically made for outdoor use.

6. On Christmas morning, pick up gift wrappings immediately after presents have been opened. Place them out doors in a trash can. If you wish to save them, fold them and put them away in a safe place away from heat and fire.

7. If lights are desired in windows, never use candles. Keep curtains and other flammable material pulled back from electric lights. Turn off all Christmas lights at night. Never leave Christmas lights on when everyone is out.

8. Take the tree down when needles begin to fall, and discard it outside the house. Never burn it in the fireplace or incinerator.

9. Be sure there are plenty of ashtrays available to smokers, especially if you are having a party. Never leave little children at home alone. Keep matches out of the reach of children. Impress upon them the fact that fire is dangerous and to keep away from it.

10. The holiday season is often when the first cold spell of winter hits. So, if you have reason to believe your heating plant is not in perfect order, have it checked by an expert.

Dr. Wheatley reminds us that the number of traffic deaths during holiday periods has been 26 per cent higher than during nonholidays at the same time of year. Of these, sadly, Christmas is the most dangerous of all. In the last five years, countrywide, 3,820 persons have lost their lives in highway crashes occurring during the Christmas holidays, an average of 294 deaths a day.

"It's a good bet that each and everyone of those persons would have laughed at the suggestion that 'you're next,' but it's also a good bet that most of them would have been alive today if they or the people they were with had been a little more careful," Dr. Wheatley said.

"The worst time is after eating, the third or fourth hour after dining or driving continuously, almost uncontrollable fatigue hits. A car can go out of control at this time before the person comes to. At 60 or 70 miles an hour, a slight lapse could cause the driver to veer to left or right, perhaps jump a divider and go crashing into cars coming the other way.

"Get off to the side of the road and rest when you feel sleepy," the Metropolitan's chief medical director advises. "Coffee breaks and rest stops should be made every two hours or so. . . and if there is another driver, plan to change drivers at these intervals."

Dr. Wheatley said it is safer traveling by plane today since the pilot can put his plane on automatic pilot or turn it over to the co-pilot if he gets tired.

"Highway accidents hit every age and spare no level of society," he went on.

Golden Venture Christmas Party To be Saturday

KAUKAUNA Residents of the Golden Venture Apartments will gather in the community room at the housing complex Saturday evening for a Christmas party. After dinner, Santa Claus will visit and the group will join in for a community sing led by Kaye Van Zummeren who will also play the guitar. After the program, dancing and cards are planned.

The apartment council, a group of residents appointed to plan activities, has had charge of arrangements. Serving on the committee are Mrs. Mary Mischler, Mrs. Mabel Swedberg, Mrs. Jose Van De Hey, Mrs. Gen Vander Velden and Mrs. Louise Schumacher. Mrs. Lawrence Van Zummeren, executive director, has served as coordinator.

Residents of the apartments have been entertained for more than a week by various groups, including neighborhood children, grade school classes, Girl Scouts and others who presented skills or sang Christmas carols. The Kiwanis Club donated a tree and lights for the community room.

"Some of our most productive people are lost because accidents take people at the productive ages: young doctors, executives, even our own actuaries who report these statistics. So don't think of yourself as immune. Use care and good sense and keep an eye on the guy in the next car. His carelessness may cost you your life."

"Let's go on the defensive against accidents."

Admit What Other Women Would Like to, But Cannot

By ARIEEN ABRAHAM

Associated Press Writer
Asking most women to admit they're not tops in the homemaking department is like asking them to admit they've had a face lift. They may tell their very best friends, but few women are likely to come right out and make a public statement to the effect that their cooking and cleaning leave much to be desired.

Peg Bracken did: witness the titles of her best-sellers, "The I Hate to Cook Book," "The I Hate to Housekeep Book," "I Try to Behave Myself: Peg Bracken's Etiquette Book" and "Peg Bracken's Appendix to The I Hate to Cook Book." Furthermore, she feels that admitting what many other women would have loved to admit but couldn't about such previously reverently treated topics as cooking is responsible for her success as a humorist.

"Humor is almost always serious. What makes the situation funny is that it's so true," says the attractive middle-age wife, mother and homemaker-writer.

Corn Beef Hash

"For example," explains Miss Bracken, "given a half hour's notice that company is coming, is the average woman going to be able to turn out one of those deluxe dishes displayed in the ladies' magazines—setups that take three women three days to prepare and photograph? No, so why not do what I do? Open a can of corn beef hash, poach an egg and slice some tomatoes. For dessert, there's always a box of chocolates in the house. This meal is okay with me and with my guests and I suspect it's okay with the home ec ladies, too, but they're not about to admit it."

Or take the well-known decorating hangup. "It's an established fact that many women get all jittery because they aren't sure that their taste is first-class, but they're afraid to say so. I admit that my only real talent is wallpapering but I never pick the right paper—a fact I never discover until the project is finished," says Miss Bracken with a smile.

There was no decorating crisis at her home in Bolinas, Calif., where she lives with her husband, painter-illustrator Parker Edwards and Johanna, 13, her daughter by a previous marriage. It was only natural for her to call in a decorator right at the start.

Sounds Off

"Otherwise I'd never have decided on anything." I'm too democratic ... I like everything from French provincial to Early Man," she quips.

The decorator, "who knew me for a long time and knew what I liked," helped ease her mind and left her more time to devote to her writing. One of the results, her latest book, "I Didn't Come Here to Argue," permits her "to sound off on all those topics I wanted to sound off on before but wasn't able to." In it she tackles every subject from sex and the supermarket to the joys of not being young to her opinions on the feminine mystique.

"I don't go along with ideas for complete equalization of the sexes, except in terms of equal pay for equal work," says the Antioch College graduate. "In fact, I wish women would stop rocking the boat. There's hardly any job we can't get today—though we may be paid less than a man would—and we still have the privilege of being treated with courtesy and gallantry. I know my back muscles are not as strong as my husband's and that makes me kind of

Belts Feature New Look

TRENDS: Men's belts are proving to be one of the fashion highlights of the season, notes the Men's Fashion Association, with many variations, and "looks." One example is the use of metal hardware along the entire length of the belt. Also, there are now many matching or coordinated watchbands to go with belts. While the conventional bowtie has remained in fairly-modest demand, the new wider shape (up to 3½ inches) is getting a big acceptance. The same can be said for the large butterfly formal ties, many in velvet.

And the importance of fringe among the younger people, cannot be overestimated. You see it on shirts, vests, outercoats and almost everything else. And here is a non-trend! A foreign sports car maker has brought out a leather trenchcoat that matches the interior upholstery of the car. We're all for new ideas in fashion, but this is one we just cannot see sweeping the country!

Stainless Flatware Gets New Elegance

The ancient Byzantine art of Cloisonne is being used for the first time on stainless steel flatware. This delicately colored porcelain art form adds a new dimension of elegance to stainless that still only requires washing and drying to keep it shiny.

special. We women never have had it so good."

Does Miss Bracken have any pet peeves in addition to the 108 (from the 108 sins of Buddha) she itemizes in her latest book? "Yes—two," she says with fire in her eyes. "One is spreading the bathroom over the living room. Have you ever had guests in, turned on the television and watched a very detailed commercial for a feminine deodorant. It's downright embarrassing."

Pet peeve No. 2 is being called clever. Although she delights in combining wisdom to ease the housewife's burdens and even though she's especially proud of the fact that a New York clinic is giving away her books to help newly discharged psychiatric patients cope better with everyday chores, clever to her is a "dirty word."

"I don't want people to admire my writing for its double meaning, for its sharp use of words," says the woman who claims she's wanted to be a writer since her childhood days in St. Louis, where her Dad was superintendent of schools. "I want people to laugh aloud when they read me. I used to write a lot of light verse but stopped when I realized that light verse, with the exception of Ogden Nash's, is rarely funny. To me, being funny is very important. I guess I just can't get my tongue out of my cheek."

Take Risk To Stop Long Suit

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

By refusing to win the first trick you may prevent an opponent from running his long suit. There is no risk in your holdup play when you have the ace of the enemy's suit; if you don't take your ace early, you can get it later on. There is more danger when you hold the king because if you don't take it immediately, you may never win a trick with it.

West leads the queen of spades, and South must make his big decision at the first trick. If South doesn't take the king, he may never win a spade trick.

Let's see what happens if South does take the king of spades at the first trick. South must get three diamond tricks to make his contract, and he will land on his feet if he can guess which opponent has the queen of diamonds. South can therefore afford to take the first spade trick if he is the sort of genius who never misguesses the location of a queen.

If South has been known to misguess a queen he can make sure of his contract by refusing the first spade trick. He may never win a spade trick, but his contract is still safe.

Leads Heart

Assume that West shifts to a heart at the second trick. Declarer wins in dummy and leads the jack of diamonds for a finesse through East. If this and the next player passes. You finesse happened to lose. West would be unable to do any damage since South still has his spade stopper.

Since the diamond finesse happens to win, declarer continues with the ten of diamonds for another finesse. South gets five diamonds and makes his game very easily.

If West continues the spades at the second trick, South takes the diamond finesse through West. The finesse loses to East's queen, but East is out of spades, thanks to the holdup at the first trick. South can win any return and make game with four diamonds, one spade, three hearts and two clubs.

Answer: Bid two diamonds. You have the high-card requirements for a jump to two notrump, but there is no advantage in suppressing the fine diamond suit. If your partner has a good hand, you might be able to make a slam in diamonds. If partner shows no dramatic interest in diamonds, you can try notrump next.

Your Problems
Judd's Probably Emotionally Disturbed

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was always amused by the nitwits who sent their problems to you. Now I have a problem that is not very amusing.

Last week my sister-in-law brought my brother to our home and dumped him here. She screamed, "You made him this way, now take care of him!" Then she threw his suitcase in the corner and left.

My brother, Judd, is 32 and completely senile. His wife claims he began to act nutty after I arranged for him to meet an old flame in my home. I realize now it was a mistake, but I had no idea it would create such a mess. Shortly after that meeting Judd began to go to pieces physically. The doctor advised his wife to take him to a psychiatrist. The psychiatrist told my sister-in-law that he was aware of Judd's long history of romantic involvements because several of his women patients described affairs with him. My sister-in-law became so incensed she went to a lawyer the next day and started divorce proceedings.

My questions are as follows: Am I legally responsible for my brother? Can philandering cause senility? Is there a cure for it? Will a Home for the Aged take a man 32? Is he eligible for Medicare? If we keep Judd, could he be considered a deduction? Please answer. I'm stymied — Penitent Cupid in Ill.

Dear Pen: I find it difficult to believe that a psychiatrist would volunteer information about other patients. I also find your use of the word senility baffling. If philandering caused your brother's breakdown, he is not senile, he is emotionally disturbed. If he is indeed a victim of premature senility, this is an organic illness and not related to his lady friends.

I suggest that you take your brother to another physician to evaluate his psychiatric needs. And I hope you will see a lawyer in regard to the legal questions. Laws vary according to state and what might be legal in Illinois might not be legal elsewhere.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How dumb can you get? I nearly got an attack of apoplexy when you told that woman, "A man who is home every night is not likely to be having an affair at the office during his lunch hour." It took me five years to figure out why my husband was pooped all the time. Right after dinner Glenn folded like a tent. One day I accidentally locked myself out of the house. I had to go to Glenn's place of business to get a key. It was you're wrong, honey, and I've then that I caught him — in broad daylight at 1:15 p.m. in his office with the door locked. So why don't you wake up and smell the coffee, kiddo? And tell whose offices are in this build-

Formerly: You wouldn't believe what I see every day from my window from 12 to 2 p.m. — and without binoculars.

What do you have to say now, Ann Landers? Twenty-Twenty Vision.

Dear Vision: I say, it's time you got away from the window and went to lunch.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Copyright, 1969)

O'Konski Raps Criticism of Sanguine Plan

Officials Voice
Divided Feelings on Proposed Project

PARK FALLS (AP)—Without knowing all the facts, "irresponsible persons" criticized the Navy's Project Sanguine, Rep. Alvin O'Konski, R-Wis., said Tuesday.

"As a man who has built three radio stations and two television stations," said O'Konski, who represents the district in which the facility is to be built, "I would not back any project that I felt would be detrimental to the communications of the area."

A letter from the congressman was read at a hearing held by the Wisconsin Assembly State Affairs Committee.

O'Konski said a statement issued last month by Lester Voigt, secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, pointing out the possible hazards of the 26-county underground transmitter grid was "irresponsible."

Possible Danger

Voigt said there could be a danger to wildlife and possibly human life.

Capt. Ferdinand Brand, director of the Sanguine Project, said the Navy had "eliminated all the hazards to our satisfaction." He insisted that with proper controls, the installation would not interfere with local equipment, such as television, radio and telephones.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who has frequently criticized the Sanguine project, submitted his opinions in a letter.

Other opponents included a spokesman for a Bayfield County property owners' association, who said there was little evidence that Sanguine construction would mean a permanent economic boost for northern Wisconsin.

Not Thorough

Nelson said laboratory tests cited by the Navy in defense of Sanguine's safety precautions have not been thorough enough. A 45-minute portion of the hearing was occupied with discussion of technicalities of the lab studies.

Ken Shifford, chairman of the Committee to Stop Sanguine, said his group now has more than 700 members.

The committee, he said, is fearful of the project's electromagnetic field harming soil and wildlife.

The construction work would not be esthetic to the north wood and the radio system would make the region a prime target for enemy nuclear attack, he added.

Damages Cut In Libel Suit Against Banker

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Circuit Judge Andrew Parnell of Appleton has reduced the damage award to Assistant Atty. Gen. Le Roy L. Dalton in a libel suit against former Milwaukee banker Howard Meister from $275,000 to $150,000.

Parnell's ruling was filed with the clerk of Circuit Court in Milwaukee Wednesday.

The court permitted the jury's award of $75,000 compensatory damages to Dalton to stand, but he reduced a $200,000 punitive award to $75,000.

Parnell gave Dalton the right to accept his decision on the reduced award or have a new trial on the question of punitive damages.

In his ruling, Parnell said a $75,000 award would represent "reasonable amount allowable for punitive damages in light of the defendant's ability to pay and considering the seriousness of the defendant's acts."

Dalton's libel suit was based on statements attributed to Meister after the dismissal of the attorney general's criminal investigative division, which had assisted in the probe. Dalton later was fired from his post.

Nixon Admits to Lunch Advice

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon says he received all sorts of advice after he disclosed he lunches only on cottage cheese and catsup to keep his weight down, even though he says he doesn't like cottage cheese.

"The dairy industry wrote and told me I should like cottage cheese," the President said Tuesday in an aside during a speech to a White House conference on nutrition.

"The catsup industry wrote and told me to try it on my cereal," Nixon added. "And others wrote and told me that catsup with cottage cheese had to be unhealthy."

"I pointed to the fact that my grandmother lived to be 93 and she ate it all her life, so that was the answer."

Teams with the two best defensive averages will be matched against each other when the Little Chute High School Mustangs entertain Wittenberg in a Central Wisconsin Conference contest at Little Chute Friday night.

The unbeaten Mustangs will be out to notch their sixth straight conference win and eighth victory, overall, at the expense of the Wildcats.

Another key game in the CWC will find once-beaten Wauwage matched against high-scoring Weyauwega at the Weyauwega court.

Other Friday action will have Manawa at Marion and winless Amherst and Iola-Scandinavia with meet at Iola. A non-conference game Saturday night will find Stevens Point playing at Waupaca.

No. 2 on Offense

Little Chute not only has the best defensive mark in the league, but the Mustangs now rank as the No. 2 team on offense with an average of 65.8 points per game. Little Chute has allowed only 43.8 per contest to CW foes.

The Mustangs solidified their position in the conference by dealing previously-unbeaten Wauwage a 59-39 defeat last Friday while Wittenberg suffered a 61-54 loss to the same Comets the next night.

Barry Hartleben has been the leading scorer for the Wildcats in the early going. The 5-11 senior hit 23 points in the loss to Wauwage and currently ranks eighth in the conference with a 13.4 average per game. Eric Larsen is averaging 10.1 and Dennis Voelz also has a 10.4 mark to round out the leading Wittenberg scorers.

Fitzpatrick Third

Mike Fitzpatrick, of Little Chute, is third in the scoring race with an average of 18 points per game and his team-

Packers' Grabowski Expects to be Traded

GREEN BAY (AP) — Running back Jim Grabowski, as a starter and had been a choice in the National Football League's 1966 draft, has been relegated to the roll of a substitute and he expects to be traded before next season.

But, though he claims he's tempted to make public statements complaining about it he won't.

"It's tempting, but it's not in me to do it. Besides, it looks this week as if it can cost you a lot of money," Grabowski said.

The Los Angeles Rams' Roman Gabriel shown here in action, was voted Wednesday the most valuable player in the National Football League.

Kapp 2nd in Voting Gabriel NFL's 'Most Valuable'

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Gabriel, the sturdy Los Angeles Rams' quarterback who reached his peak in 1969, has been voted the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League by a 48-man panel of writers and sportscasters for The Associated Press.

The 6-foot-4, 220-pound former North Carolina State passer led the Rams to the Coastal Division title with room to spare and was roaring toward an unbeaten season until upended by the Minnesota Vikings Dec. 7.

Leads Charge

Gabriel received 21 full votes and a portion of another ballot that was split among Gabriel, Calvin Hill of Dallas and Joe Kapp of Minnesota.

Kapp, the man who helped engineer the Rams' defeat the hands of the Vikings, was Gabriel's closest competitor with eight votes. Carl Eller, the Minnesota defensive end who leads the charge of the Purple Gang, was next with seven, an unusually high total for a defensive player.

Sonny Jurgensen, called by Washington Coach Vince Lombardi the greatest quarterback in the game, and perhaps ever, had four votes for his efforts in leading the Redskins to their best record since 1955.

Calvin Hill, the surprising Dallas rookie from Yale, also undisputed Fox River Valley Conference lead against co-runnerup Fond du Lac in Friday's spotlight game.

While AHS-W is playing host to the Cardinals, Neenah and Appleton East will seek to remain in the thick of the title race. The co-runnerup Rockets play host to Manitowoc, and the co-fourth place Patriots visit Oshkosh.

If Fondy stops AHS-W and Neenah beats Manty, the Terrors would fall into a 3-way first-place deadlock with the Rockets and the Cards.

The Terrors, who are making a strong bid for their first title in five years, have swept their initial six starts for the first time in the Emanuel era. Five of the wins have come in FRVC play, and three of them have come in tough road assignments — at Manitowoc, AHS-E and Sheboygan North. In their only home conference games to date, the Terrors have beaten Neenah and Southwest.

1968-9 Games Split

AHS-W and East's Patriots split their 1968-9 games with Friday's opponents. West lost to Fond du Lac, 73-63, before reversing the tables, 63-49. AHS-E walloped Oshkosh, 83-61, then lost, 69-44, in the return match. Neenah, meanwhile, split its two league games with Manitowoc, then won the rubber game against the Ships in tournament play.

Appleton West and Fondy have both been early-season surprises. The unbeaten Terrors were rated fourth — as dark-horse candidates — in pre-season prognostications. The Cards were ranked fifth — on a par with Sheboygan North. Thus far, the Cards have lost only to North's Raiders in the first five FRVC contests.

The Terrors will send the FRVC's best 1-2 punch — Tim Moriarty and Rich Reitzner — against Fond du Lac. Moriarty is scoring at a 20.2 league pace (third best in the circuit) while Reitzner's point pace is 18. In last season's two games, Reitzner scored 23 points against the Cards, while Moriarty had 20.

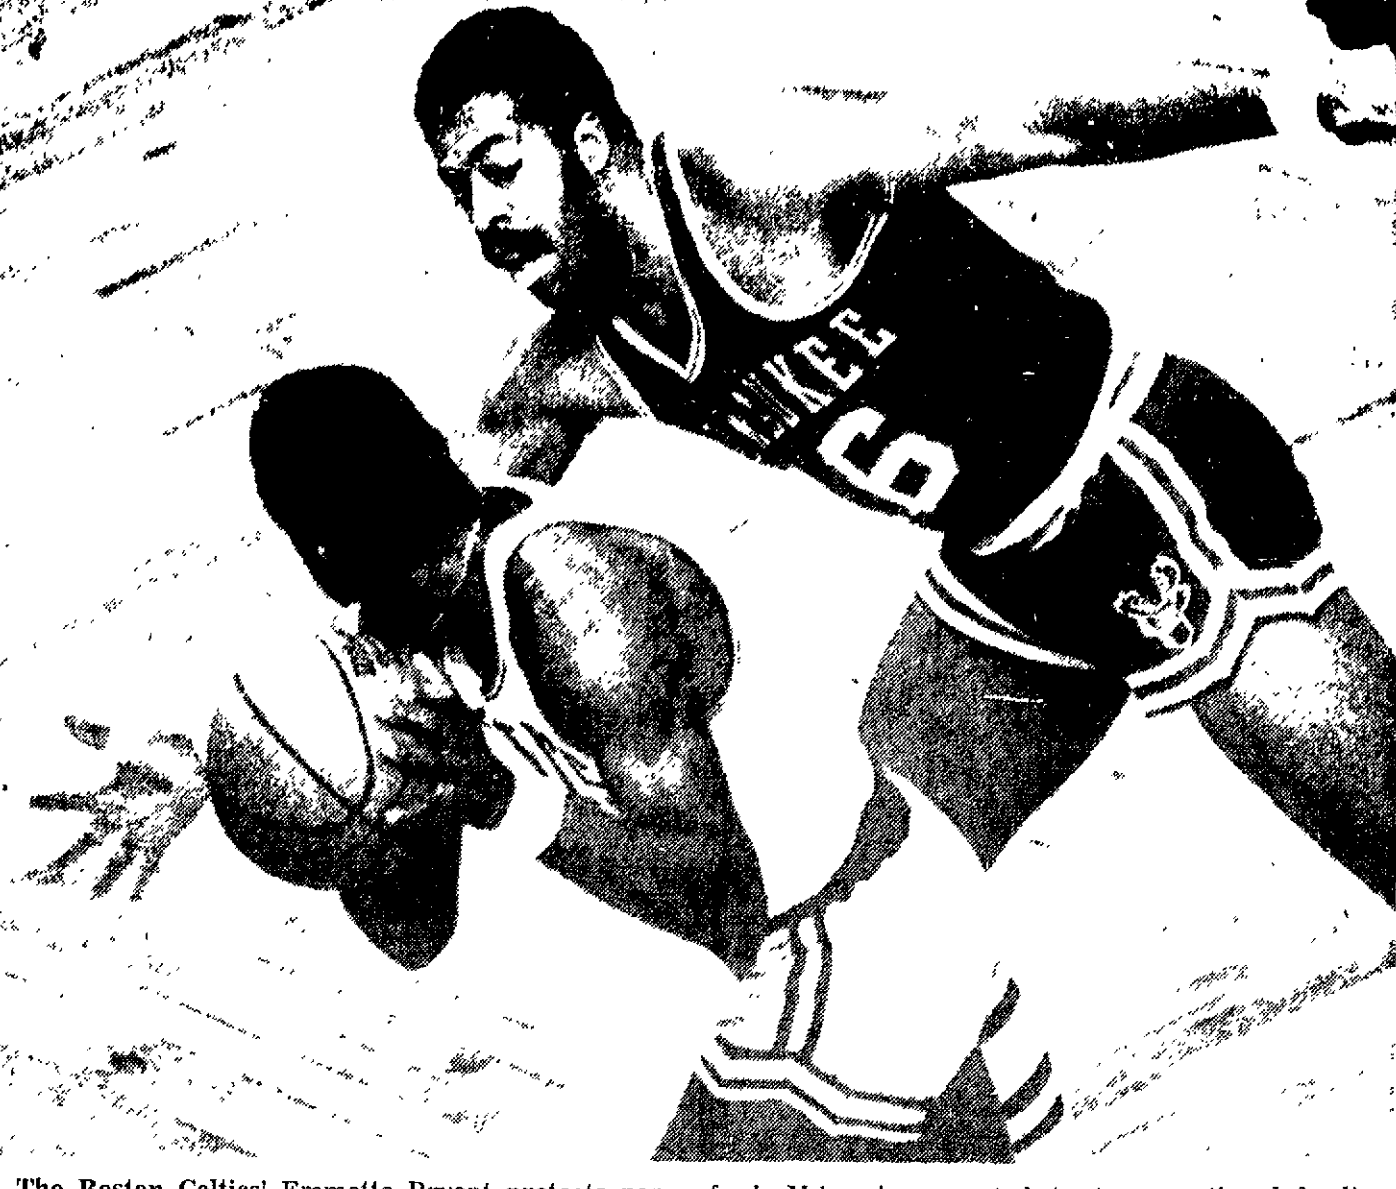

A third Terror, Brad McIntyre, is also close to a double-figure pace, with an average of 9.4.

Fondy's attack is led by Bill Olson, Rick Koeck and Doug West. Olson, who scored 27 points against AHS-W in a comeback win last season (before being held to eight in the return duel), is averaging 19.6 this season. Koeck, a tough customer under the boards, is scoring at a 16.6 clip, while Doug West's rate is 14.6.

Strong Play

AHS-E, picked for no better than eighth in this, a rebuilding season, continued its surprising, strong play with a win over South last Friday. The Patriots currently have three players in double figures. They are Don (11.8) and Nick Milhaupt (10.6). Oshkosh, which has been an up-and-down but still a highly

Cardinals Have Been Using Five Rookies On Defensive Squad

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — What kind of a year has it been?

Joe Pollack, the St. Louis Cardinals' glib and artful publicity director, had a ready answer.

"We went five straight weeks starting five rookies on defense — three in the backfield, one at middle linebacker and one at defensive end," he told the Green Bay Mike & Pen Sports Club at its Wednesday luncheon meeting in the Beaumont Motor Inn.

"That," Joe added in reference to the Big Red's 4-8-1 record, "is pretty hard to win with."

Pollack, here to report on the Cardinals' progress in advance of their Sunday invasion of Lambeau Field for a season-ending exchange with the Packers, further disclosed, "We're still starting two rookies at the corners and one at defensive end."

Looked Very Good

"One of them, cornerback Roger Wehrli, has looked very good. But he's still a rookie and he hurts you once in a while."

As may already have been deduced, Coach Charlie Winner has not exhibited his yearlings so extensively by choice.

"We've had seven knee operations already," Pollack explained. "The last one was Kenny Gray (an ex-Packer who has

Bucks Stretch Winning Streak To 4 Games

Alcindor Scores 29 Point Against Boston Celtics

BOSTON (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks won their fourth consecutive National Basketball Association game Wednesday night by crushing the Boston Celtics 121-106.

The same two teams clashed again at Milwaukee Friday night.

Three Bucks scored 20 or more points to lead the rout of the defending NBA champions.

Low Alcindor paced Milwaukee. Robinson added 27 and Jon McGlocklin 20.

Taking their second victory in three meetings this season, the Bucks led almost the entire game, ballooning to a 28-point lead late in the contest.

The Jelt's have won three A 16-2 spurt in the last five.

Hirsh Says Badgers Have No Quota on Black Athletes

MADISON (AP)—Athletic Director Elroy Hirsh has assured black students there is no quota on Negro athletes at the University of Wisconsin.

Hirsh made the assertion Tuesday at a closed-door meeting called to answer questions of about 25 black athletes.

"The meeting was very calm, thoughtful and restrained," said Prof. Frederick Haberman, chairman of the athletic board.

"Mr. Hirsh stated unequivocally there is no quota on black athletes and that he would not permit one to be imposed," Haberman said.

The Negro athletes noted that Rufus "Roadrunner" Ferguson is the only black freshman who will be on the varsity football team in 1970. Three other black athletes were on the freshman squad but quit.

Vikings' Grant Named NFL's 'Coach of Year'

By CHARLEY HALLMAN MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — If Harry "Bud" Grant had been in his own words, "Good enough" as a professional basketball player, he might not have ever gotten involved with professional football.

But Grant wasn't, at least in his own mind, so after two years in the National Basketball Association with the Minneapolis Lakers, he became a Philadelphia Eagle, later switched to Canadian football, became a coach and came back to the National Football League three years ago.

Grant, now coach of the Minnesota Vikings, was named Coach of the Year in the NFL by an overwhelming vote of a panel for The Associated Press.

The former basketball player received 42 full votes to two for his nearest competitor, Tom Landry, coach of the Dallas Cowboys.

Receiving one ballot each were Vince Lombardi of Washington, Blanton Collier of Cleveland and George Allen of Los Angeles. One vote was split three ways among Grant, Landry and Allen.

After earning his fourth letter in football at Minnesota, Grant joined the Lakers because "I could play pro basketball in Minneapolis, which was my home, and my wife was pregnant, and besides pro football didn't pay very much in those days."

But after two years of sitting on the bench watching the great Laker quintet of that era, Grant decided to join the Eagles, who had drafted him No. 1 two years before.

He played for Philadelphia two years, earning All-Pro honors his first season as a defensive end and playing offensive end the second.

In 1954 he jumped to Canada to play for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and in 1957 took over as head coach when Allie Sherman former New York Giants coach, left.

In 1967, Grant, then 40, took over as head coach of the Vikings, succeeding stormy Norm Van Brocklin.

"Quiet Man"

The Minnesota players call Bud the "quiet man" but they say he is a "great coach."

Grant, when informed of being named Coach of the Year, said his selection is "an honor that belongs to the team and the coaches together."

Wearing a purple Vikings cap and a sweatshirt while playing basketball in the University of Minnesota fieldhouse, Grant said, "I did nothing in particular. It is an honor given to a team with a 12-1 record in my name."

Grant was once before named Coach of the Year, in Canada, where his Blue Bombers won the conference title five times and the Grey Cup four times during his 10-year reign as head coach.

Vikings Improve Grant's first year with Minnesota was hardly a success. The Vikings were 3-8-3 but last season the record improved to 8-6 as Minnesota became Central Division champs.

But the Vikings lost the Western Conference title game to Baltimore, 24-14.

Before this season, Grant was asked about his team and its chances for this year.

"The Vikings are still in the middle of the pack," he said. "We won our division but still went 0-for-5 against the strongest teams. Our goal is to move up to the top level, to be within reach of the top."

The teams Grant considered at the top were Baltimore, Dallas, Green Bay and Los Angeles.

This year Minnesota whipped Baltimore 52-14, Cleveland 51-3, Los Angeles 20-13 and Green Bay twice, 19-7 and 9-7. The Vikings didn't play Dallas.

After all, Grober and Paul Mullen loose in the Big Eight, a league in for easy layoffs that feed the which every other school had game front-line players coming back. The only team in the Association and four teams returned all five, including Press Top Ten to see at starters, the Cowboys, with all from was Ohio University and their starters gone, figured to be in trouble.

But, as usual, Henry Iba has the prescription for victory, and Ivey and Craig Love led which is what you might expect from a coach whose pre-season record showed 753 victories against only 326 defeats, two Olympic championships, two national championships, 14 Missouri Valley titles and one Big Eight crown.

Right Move
Iba came up with the right move at the right time again Wednesday night. The Cowboys had just seen a 12-point lead whittled to three by Texas, the Southwest Conference favorites, head-to-head confrontation with when the veteran coach, whose teams have been known foraged 21 points but Ralph Ogden was high for the losers with 23 Columbia, another unbeaten, spotted Fordham the first two points in overtime, then reeled off 13 in a row to beat the Rams 80-69 and snap their home court winning streak at 25 games. Jim McMillan was high with 35 points.

North Carolina State made it five straight, defeating Auburn 76-69 behind sophomore Paul Coder's 31 points. Butch Zatezka hit eight of 11 shots in the second half as Clemson held off Alabama 104-95.

minutes of the third period sealed Milwaukee's victory, its 20th against 13 defeats.

Boston now has a record of 11-18 and is wallowing near the bottom of the Eastern Division.

As in its previous three straight wins, Milwaukee utilized a tight defense and few mistakes to claim the victory. Several Bucks' baskets came after steals or blocked shots.

Henry Finkel led Boston with 23 points.

Rangers' Giacomin Makes Assist; Smith In Year's 3rd Scrap

By JAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Things were getting drastic so drastic, in fact, that goalies Ed Giacomin and Al Smith took things into their own hands.

The New York Rangers were trailing Philadelphia 2-1 with time running out Wednesday night when Giacomin's clearing pass led to Dave Balon's game-tying goal and a 2-2 National Hockey League deadlock with the Flyers.

Smith, the pugnarious Pittsburgh goalie, didn't face quite as well as Giacomin. He left his net to join in a first period brawl against Montreal, drawing an automatic $100 fine for his troubles and then returned to the goal and quickly gave up a score to J. C. Tremblay. That broke a 1-1 tie and started the Canadiens to a 5-2 romp over the Penguins.

In other games, Los Angeles beat Chicago 3-1 and Oakland defeated Minnesota 3-1.

Philadelphia goalie Bernie Parent kicked out 46 Ranger shots—21 of them in the second period—and was leading 2-0 on goals by Joe Watson and Lew Morrison.

Rangers Score

But Balon got the Rangers on the scoreboard when he swiped a loose puck into the corner of the Flyers' net early in the third period.

Then, with 3:20 left to play, Giacomin's clearing pass to Walt Tkaczuk led to Balon's second goal and the tie. It was the first assist in his NHL career for the goalie.

Smith got into his third scrap of the season when he took on Terry Harper of the Canadiens. It must have worn him out because less than a minute after play resumed, Tremblay scored the Canadiens' go-ahead goal.

Henri Richard scored two goals and assisted on another for Montreal, which moved into a second place tie with idle Boston in the NHL's East Division, three points back of New York.

Los Angeles rewarded new Coach Johnny Wilson with his first victory on a third-period comeback. Cliff Korall had given the Hawks a 1-0 lead in the first period. The Kings bunched their goals in the final stanza with Eddie Shack, Jimmy Peters and Butch Goring clicking.

New Financial Crisis Puts Pilots on Uncertain Basis

SEATTLE (AP) — The Stadium problems were solved, the Pilots face an uncertain future because of a new financial crisis. Fred Danz, head of a group of local businessmen taking over the American League baseball club, said Tuesday night.

Danz said the crisis concerns a "sizeable sum" of money the local group was counting on but which "probably will not be forthcoming."

He declined to go into detail but said the money problem involves the previous owners of the Pilots, Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., which began turning the club over to the Danz group last month.

Danz spearheaded the effort to keep the Pilots in Seattle when it was feared the league might move the franchise because of stadium problems and poor attendance in the team's first year.

Retained Interest
William Daley of Cleveland, who held about 60 per cent of the Pilot stock, also agreed to keeping the team in Seattle provided the local group purchase the club for a reported $10.2 million. He retained a 25 per cent interest.

The league agreed to leave the franchise in Seattle if the stadium problems were solved.

Danz said satisfactory progress was being made on that matter. But, he said, the new problem group of local businessmen taking over the American League very uncertain.

"Monday was to be one of the important closing days in effecting the sale but we had to pass on that," Danz said. "We had another date, in mid-February, that we were pointing at, but now everything's indefinite."

"It is a matter of the previous owners clarifying the financial status before the new owners can proceed. Daley knows of it, it's none of his doing, but he's watching it," Danz said.

Addonizio Won't Resign Under Fire

By RICHARD L. STERN
Associated Press Writer
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio pledged "business as usual" today despite his indictment by a federal grand jury probing alleged official corruption in New Jersey's largest city.

Demands for the ouster of Addonizio and of other officials in-evasion. The indictment said boss Ruggiero "Richie" the that in 1968 he reported an in- Boiardo, was charged with reporting lower-than-actual income of $265,052 in 1966, plus $80,763 in 1967 and $67,191 in 1968. The younger Boiardo had been sought for grand jury questioning but disappeared last week.

Costa e Silva, Ex-Brazilian Leader, Dies

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Arthur da Costa e Silva, the second in the current string of Brazilian military presidents, died Wednesday. He was 67 and had been an invalid since a brain stroke in August cut short his term in office.

An army marshal who took off his uniform to become president in 1967, Costa e Silva bowed to his military colleagues and wiped out the last traces of parliamentary power on Dec. 13, 1967, after the Chamber of Deputies refused to lift the immunity of a deputy who had called the armed forces "a nest of torturers."

The tradition of military dictatorship was continued after the president's stroke when the three top military leaders pushed the civilian vice president aside and ruled as a junta, then chose Gen. Emilio Garrastazu Medici for the presidency in October.

Costa e Silva's rise to the presidency began with the military coup that overthrew President Joao Goulart in April 1964, replacing him with Marshal Humberto Castello Branco. Costa e Silva led the military side of the coup but passed the presidency to Castello Branco, the army chief of staff. Costa e Silva became war minister.

When Castello Branco decided to step down after three years, Costa e Silva maneuvered successfully to get the military's backing, and the government-dominated Congress elected him unopposed on Oct. 3, 1966, his 64th birthday.

New Oil Slick At Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An oil slick covering 50 square miles of the Pacific drifted slowly southward today after a new leak developed from an offshore drilling rig in the Santa Barbara Channel, scene of massive oil slick early this year.

The fresh seepage, detected Wednesday, spurted between 6,000 and 9,000 gallons of oil from a weld in an undersea pipe at the same Union Oil Co. platform where the disastrous blow-out started last Jan. 28. That slick spread over 1,800 square miles of the Pacific in 11 days, blackened beaches in Santa Barbara County and smothered the Southern California coast for miles north and south.

Penny's Interest Ruling Appealed

MADISON (AP) — A decision denying the state an injunction for stopping J. C. Penny Co. Inc. from charging 18 per cent interest on its revolving charge plans was appealed to the Wisconsin Supreme Court Wednesday by Atty. Gen. Robert Warren.

Circuit Judge W. L. Jackman held that while the Penny plan violates the maximum interest rate allowed in the state of 12 per cent, the violation did not constitute a public nuisance and that an injunction could not be granted.

Also Charged
Also charged with income tax evasion were Frank Addonizio, Bernstein, Callaghan, Gordon, Giuliano, LaMorte, Vicaro, Biancone, Turner and West.

In one extortion count, the defendants, except for Biancone, were accused of delving construction of a Newark Sewerage project in 1965 by "the wrongful use of fear, of financial injury and under the color of official right."

Three Investigations
The indictments contained 65 counts alleging each of the 15 defendants obtained payments of $500 to $37,000 from Constad, Inc.

The mayor surrendered about an hour after the indictments and was released on $25,000 bail by Judge Robert F. Shaw of U.S. District Court who ordered the mayor's travel restricted to New Jersey. The mayor is to be arraigned before Shaw Friday.

The indictments resulted from one of three investigations U.S. Atty. Frederick B. Lacey has been conducting in New Jersey. The others are aimed at gambling and alleged links between the Mafia and the U.S. Internal Revenue Service in the state.

Two former New Jersey IRS officials have been indicted, and on Tuesday a federal grand jury in Newark indicted 55 persons, including alleged Mafioso Sam the Plumber" DeCavalcante, on charges connected with an alleged $20 million a year interstate gambling operation.

First Air Force Action

Officers' Club Manager Removed in Irregularities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force removed the manager of a noncommissioned officers' club in Greenland after discovering financial irregularities during a surprise audit, it was disclosed today.

Officials said S. Sgt. Dewey Risner was relieved from his managerial assignment at Thule Air Force Base on Sept. 20 as result of a check made by the Air Force's auditor general.

So far it is the first known instance of the service acting against an individual in a current crackdown on irregularities in officer and NCO club operations.

Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans Jr. announced a week ago that the Air Force, like the Army, had been conducting a probe of club activities and found such irregularities as alleged money kickbacks at clubs in Thailand.

Worldwide Investigation
The latest disclosure indicates the Air Force investigation ranges worldwide. Officials said

Tiny Tim and his 17-year-old bride had their backs to the camera throughout the nondenominational service performed by the Rev. William Glenesk of Brooklyn's Spencer Memorial Church. Then they joined Carson and his other guests in the standard lounge format.

The couple vowed to be "sweet, gentle, kind, patient, not puffed up, charitable, slow to anger and swift to forgive."

They were surrounded by 10,000 tulips flown from Holland. Miss Budinger in an off-white Victorian-style gown of peau de soie with lace collar and sleeves, was given away by her father, Alan Budinger of Had-

Carson proposed a champagne toast, but the couple said they didn't drink liquor. Tiny Tim mixed a milk-and-honey tonic that he said was "the good Lord's food."

They leave today for a Bahamas honeymoon. The first three days will be spent apart. Tiny Tim said, in accordance with the Old Testament tradition of Tobias.

Manson Asks To Act as His Own Attorney

Request Made at Special Hearing On Tate Slayings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson, facing trial on murder-conspiracy charges in seven slayings, wants to act as his own attorney.

The 35-year-old cult leader made the surprise request Wednesday to Superior Court Judge William B. Keene, who said he would consider it.

Manson, bearded and long-haired, approached the bench with pad and pencil in hand and said, "Your honor, I'm competent to stand and talk to you . . . I have the awareness to understand the charges against me and I have some knowledge of the law."

The soft-spoken defendant declared, "There is no way I can give up my own voice in this matter. If there is no way I can speak freely, it ties my hands and I might as well not have a defense."

Speak Freely

Manson is charged along with four of his followers in the gun-shot slaying deaths of actress Sharon Tate and four other persons at her rented Benedict Canyon estate Aug. 9.

All five also are accused in the knifing deaths the following night of wealthy Hollywood grocer Leno LaBianca and his wife, Rosemary. A sixth member of the Manson "family" is charged only in the LaBianca killings.

Two Attorneys

Manson was led into court for the specially convened hearing flanked by two attorneys, Luke McKissack, 32, and Lawrence Steinberg, 51. Court aides, and apparently McKissack and Steinberg anticipated merely a case, who first popularized the song, was a wedding guest and sang the song on the "Tonight" show.

Lamonica Does His Thing as Raiders Bombard Opposition

By MIKE RATHET
NEW YORK (AP) — The er running of Hewitt Dixon and theory of operation that has the breakaway threat of Char-made the Oakland Raiders one ley Smith, Biletnikoff and Wells of the most successful organiza-complemented by tight ends Bil-tions in the American Football ly Cannon and Roger Hagberg League is built around shroud-and there is the offensive line.

That line—with Bob Svihus and Harry Schuh at the tackles, Gene Upshaw and Jim Harvey at the guards and Jim Otto at the center—have thrown a protea-tive ring around Lamonica that monica has been schooled in not even Joe Namath gets from that theory. He also has de-royed it.

The Raiders still practice very much in secret and still operate behind a semi-blackout of information, but there is no mystery about what Lamonica is going to do on the field. The elements of the game plan al-ways dissolve into a Bombs Away attitude.

Speaks in Cliches
Oakland's system, devised to exploit the pass, is the perfect complement for Lamonica, a per-sistent performer who speaks in cliches enough to know:

—The shortest route between two points is a straight line.

—If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

And so Lamonica throws deep, again and again.

The results have been start-ling. Considering that the oppo-sition is not battling the mys-tery of questioning what Lamo-nica is going to do, it is indeed a wonder that they have not been able to cut him off at the pass.

That they haven't is, of over to Lamonica. Then Lamo-course, reflected in Lamonica's nica tries to do his thing. Lamonica's thing is Oakland's passes and the fact that his two prime targets, Warren Wells only weakness. Somebody along and Fred Biletnikoff, ran 1-2 in touchdown passes during the regular season.

Wells Injured
However, the Raiders, and Wells, were jolted when out-ers are on Lamonica's side of the ledger.

With Wells replaced by either Rod Sherman or Drew Buie, a rookie from Catawba for whom Lamonica has predicted star-dom, the Raiders passing attack undoubtedly will suffer.

Still it is undoubtedly the bombs-away passing attack that the Raiders are expected to throw at Houston Sunday in one of the AFL's two playoff games, the winner moving on to meet the New York-Kansas City sur-ivor in the championship game Jan. 4.

Persistence
That Lamonica has been able to achieve what he has while tipping his plans is a tribute, however, not only to his own tal-ents, and his persistence, but to the other elements of the of-fense and a defense that sees 72 that he gets the ball time and time again.

respectful entry, boasts a couple of topnotch scorers in Mark Luther (17.4 averages) and Mike Flanagan (14.8). Flanagan threw in 14 points against East in last season's upset win for OHS.

Neenah, the hottest offensive club in the FRVC, goes after its fifth straight league win and sixth straight, over-all, against Manitowish. The Rockets, after being held to 55 points by AHS-W in the opener, has sizzled with an 86.2 per game average in their last five starts.

Double-figure scorers for Neenah are Pat Hawley (18.2), John Arpm (12.6) and Bo Block (10). Neenah, defending co-champion and 1969-70 league favorite, has won handily each time during the 5-game streak.

Manitowish, expected to be the one of Neenah's two top chal-lengers (disappointing Green Bay East is the other), comes to the Rockets' gym in a near-last-chance opportunity. The Ships have already lost three times and can scarcely afford another loss if they entertain further serious title hopes.

The Ships boast the loop's leading scorer in John Savage, who is recording points at a 24.8 per game pace. Steve Kronberg (10.8) is next in line on the Manty team.

Robinson Sees New Packer Backfield Era

GREEN BAY (AP) — Take it from Dave Robinson: The day of the "big backfield", the three yards in a cloud of dust, is gone from the Green Bay Packers.

"The coming thing is the breakaway back," said Robinson, one of the best linebackers in the National Football League. The Packers won several NFL championships and the first two straight league games. Green Bay Premonire (3-1) journeys to Oshkosh Lourdes (3-2) in another key tilt.

Appleton Xavier will rest on its 2-3 league record until Tuesday when the defending champion Hawks test St. John in the Xavier gym. The FWCC will have three more games slated Tuesday before the holiday break, including St. Mary Pen-nings.

"We've got to ring the bell — we've got to score to stay in the race Friday night," a determined Ripp says of his team's clash with Catholic Central. "We're going to have to play good ball because they're a good club."

One of Ripp's main worries will center around stopping Cavalier star Bob Holquist, the 6-3 junior forward who leads the league with a 29.7 average. "We won't be able to let him get the ball, that's for sure," the Chuter mentor vows.

Concerning his own team's most recent performance at St. Mary, Ripp could offer only, "I'm glad we got the bad one out of our system. We just didn't play ball. I guess the kids just weren't excited about the game."

A life-saver for the Chuters in that tilt was reserve center Tom Jansen, who tossed in eight of St. John's 15 points in the last quarter. "I thought he did an excellent job," Ripp says, "he's the one who actually pulled the game out four us."

Gary Vandelhey will lead the Dutchmen into action with 16.0 average, and Mark Hammen and Chris Hartjes are also in double figures at 11.4 and 10.6, respectively. Terry Huiting is close back with a 9.8 mark. Hartjes and Huiting, especially, have turned in "real fine jobs" of late, according to Ripp.

St. Mary mentor Bob Pliska will start three sophomores — Tom Schultz (6-4), Mark Laem-mrich, and Terry Winarski 8 in hopes of picking up the Zephyrs' all-important first win.

Mike Johnson, a regular, probably won't see much if any action against Springs since he has a sore back and hasn't practiced all week.

The loss to St. John was encouraged to Pliska from the standpoint the Zephyrs continued to cut down on their mistakes. "We've cut them in half since our first game," Pliska notes.

Pliska sees the approaching contest about as even as the teams' records indicate. "Springs is about like us," he comments. "They have some good outside shooters. There aren't any real standouts, but they hustle."

Sharing the St. Mary scoring spotlight going into the game are Laemmrch and Mike Hermus, who each show 12.0 averages.

Begins Play in 1971-72

Bay Conference OKs Marinette

Post-Crescent News Service
SEYMOUR — The newly or-ganized Bay Conference has provided a home for Marinette.

The league members voted Tuesday to admit Marinette to the conference beginning in the 1971-72 school year, thereby creating a potential 10-team league.

Members already in the Bay Conference are De Pere, West De Pere, Ashwaubenon, Bay Port, Seymour, Pulaski, Oconto, Oconto Falls and Clintonville.

Marinette was accepted by a 7-2 vote with only Oconto and Pulaski dissenting. But both John LeMay of Oconto and Frank Joswick of Pulaski, superintendents of the two schools, indicated that they had no objections to competing against Marinette.

Le May informed the group that he still felt Marinette should be part of the Fox River Valley but that his school would be happy to compete against Marinette. Joswick explained that his negative vote was simply be-cause Pulaski had made has-been commitments in 1971-72, commitments that would pre-sumably have to be broken when Marinette joins. But Jos-wick also indicated that Pulaski would look forward to compet-ing against Marinette.

Scott Stevens and Dennis Harri-gan, both of Weyauwega, a team which is averaging 73 points per game. Stevens has scored 114 points for an average of 22.8 while Harrigan has 107 markers for 21.4.

Weyauwega faces nearly a "must win" situation when it entertains the Comets Friday. A loss would be the third of the campaign for the Indians and severely hurt their chances of making a run for the title.

Cannot Afford Loss
Meanwhile, the Comets also can hardly afford another loss if they want to stay in the thick of the battle for conference laurels. Wittenberg, likewise, has only two losses and can ill-afford a setback at Little Chute.

Manawa will be out to boost its season mark to 4-2 in the conference, but the Wolves will have to get by Marion on the Marion home court.

Speedster Offense

"I'm sure we'll be designing our offense to fit runners like Travis Williams. Donny Ander-son, Dave Hampton and Perry Williams," Robinson said.

Last Sunday, in the Packers' 21-3 victory over the Chicago Bears, Hampton enjoyed the best day of his rookie season, totaling 94 yards in 10 carries. That also was the best of any running back in the league last weekend.

Travis Williams scored on a 39-yard run and a 60-yard scor-ing pass.

"It was just a question of get-ting our fast backs into the open," said Packer Coach Phil Bengtson.

Looking Ahead
Looking ahead to next season, Bengtson said Perry Williams "figures pretty prominently in our plans."

Robinson, whose job is to stop the running backs, said Jimmy Brown, the former Cleveland fullback, was "the greatest all-around runner I faced."

"Now, however, a breakaway runner tops his list.

"The best runner today is Gale Sayers, who has a sixth sense in finding a seam of day-light," the Packer linebacker said.

Sayers, the key to the Chi-cago attack, was held to 90 yards in 25 carries last Sunday.

Weyauwega Kegler to Face Murray Lindsay On Television Program

Paul Tesson of Weyauwega will be the next opponent for Sheboygan's Murray Lindsay on the Northeastern Wisconsin Championship Bowling program (Channel 2) Green Bay at 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

Lindsay recorded his third straight victory Monday night when he defeated Jim Lucas. Neenah, by a series total of 607 to 567.

Lindsay had games of 191, 214 and 202 while Lucas hit 185, 179 and 203.

Cook Top Passer; Turner Repeats as Loop Scoring King

NEW YORK (AP) — San Diego's Dick Post and Lance Alworth captured the American Football League's rushing and receiving titles in last week-end's regular season finales while Jim Turner of New York retained his scoring crown and rookie Greg Cook of Cincinnati emerged as the No. 1 passer.

Post rambled for 108 yards against Buffalo to finish atop the rushing parade with a total of 873—for a 123-yard margin over runner-up Jim Nance of Boston.

Alworth repeated as the top pass-catcher by grabbing seven against the Bills to beat out Oakland's Fred Biletnikoff 64-54 for the season. The San Diego flash went over the 1,000-yard mark for the seventh successive season and set a pro record of one or more receptions in 96 straight games.

Turner Nips Stenerud
Turner registered 129 points on 32 field goals and 33 extra point kicks for a 10-point edge over Jan Stenerud of Kansas City. The Jet kicker won with 145 points a year ago.

Cook, first rookie passer to lead the league, nipped New York's Joe Namath and Oak-land's Daryle Lamonica in the aerial ratings, based on average gain per pass play, percentage of completions, touchdown passes and interception percentage.

15 TD Passes
The Bengals' prodigy was first, second, fourth and sixth, respectively, in those four cat-egories. He completed 106 of 191 passes for 1,854 yards and 15 touchdowns, with an average gain of 9.41 yards and 11 inter-ceptions.

Denver rookie Bill Thompson led the pack in both kickoff and punt returns with averages of 28.5 and 11.5 yards per runback.

Emmitt Thomas of Kansas City set the interception pace with nine and San Diego's Dennis Pardee was the top punter with a 44.6-yard average.

Little Chute Recodifies Ordinances

New Village Laws Adopted With No Citizen Objections

LITTLE CHUTE—The Village Board Tuesday night adopted a new ordinance book with ordinances revised and recodified, after no objections were raised at a public hearing before the board meeting.

Two citizens appeared at the hearing, but registered no complaints and informed village officials that they were merely interested in the recodification program. Work was done by Municipal Ordinance Service at a cost of approximately $2,500.

The board approved the hiring of Richard Kilsdonk to bring utility records up to date and to begin training for the position of sewer and water plant operator. Kilsdonk also serves as village assessor.

Purchase of a 1965 used truck from Stumpf Motors, Kaukauna, at a cost of $995 was approved and board members accepted the Riveredge Subdivision plat submitted by McCrone Construction and the first addition to the Florida Heights plat as submitted by Barney Bietpas owners of the property.

Public hearings were set for 7 p.m. Jan. 27 and 28 on rezoning requests submitted to the board. The first is the request for a change of zoning from residential to business by Kenneth Van Hoof to permit construction of a rest home on property on W. Main Street.

The second is for rezoning of land from business to industrial by Ray McCarty and Sons Construction. The firm desires to expand facilities on E. Main Street for storage and location of heavy construction equipment.

Hanoi Again Absent From Peace Talks

Habib Tells Envoy Delays Will Gain Communists Nothing

PARIS (AP) — North Vietnamese chief negotiator boycotted the Paris peace talks for the second straight week today and the United States declared that "there is nothing to be gained by delay."

The statement appeared to be a reply, if indirect, to the absence of North Vietnamese Ambassador Xuan Thuy from the talks. He was replaced at the 47th plenary session by his deputy, Col. Ha Van Luan, who accused the Nixon administration

Ambassador Philip C. Habib told the other side: "It is time for you to join us in serious negotiations. There is nothing to be gained by delay. If your side is willing to talk seriously, you will find us flexible and forthcoming."

Habib, who replaced Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge two weeks ago, underscored President Nixon's statement that "our delegation at these meetings has full authority to discuss any proposal that will contribute to a just peace."

Just Peace

The North Vietnamese have suggested that Habib, a career diplomat, is not a negotiator of the same stature as Lodge or Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, who preceded Lodge.

After the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong had assailed Nixon's declaration that 50,000 troops would be withdrawn from Vietnam by April 15, Habib questioned the other side on its intentions.

Concrete Proposal

"We would like to know," he said, "whether you also have a concrete proposal for the withdrawal of North Vietnamese forces that you have sent to South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos."

"We cannot consider your call for a withdrawal of American forces a serious proposal for negotiations unless it is accompanied by an equally specific indication that your side is prepared to withdraw North Vietnamese troops."

Habib took the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to task for "your refusal to enter into genuine discussions with all the parties, as well as your refusal to consider mutual action."

Internal Matter

Then he referred to a statement by the other side that the people of South Vietnam should settle their own affairs without interference.

Does this mean that North Vietnamese forces are prepared to withdraw from South Vietnam and let its people decide their own future? Habib asked.

"Does this mean that under such circumstances there can be competition in a free and fair election in South Vietnam and that you are prepared to abide by the results? Does this mean that you are prepared to have representatives of your side discuss these matters with representatives of the government of the Republic of Vietnam? If your answer to these questions is affirmative, great progress can be made toward resolving the Vietnam conflict."

Col. Lau said Nixon "reiterates his old talk about 'negotiation from a position of strength,' ... refuses to appoint a new head of the U.S. delegation, deliberately downgrades the Paris conference on Vietnam, and carries out his scheme of sabotaging the conference."

10 Negroes Suspended at Whitewater

Students Claim Clashes Reflected City's Race Mood

WHITWATER, Wis. (AP) — Ten Negroes were on suspension from Whitewater State University today as a result of student clashes which they said reflect racial tension facing them in this small college town.

City manager Ronald U. DeMaagd, from whom Negro students said they sought assurances of police protection, denied the students had any particular reason for fear.

But he acknowledged the presence of extra police patrols in the tense community of 10,000 citizens and 9,700 students.

William L. Carter, college president, announced Wednesday after two days of hearings that 10 Negro students were being suspended for roles in a window-smashing, club-swinging battle with white students at a white fraternity house early Tuesday.

Several injured members were injured. Monday night, white and Negro students had scuffled during an intramural basketball game.

The campus has 102 Negro students. About 85 of them traveled to Madison late Tuesday, and spent the night with University of Wisconsin organizations which said their guests reported having seen white students carrying rifles.

Students said much of the tension stems from the circulation of leaflets in September by an unidentified group, advocating that a Negro fraternity be removed from the campus.

Many of the Negro students returned to Whitewater from Madison late Wednesday, and police accompanied them to dormitories where they recovered belongings and headed for their homes for the Christmas vacation. Most of the 10 students suspended by the school are from Milwaukee.

Police Protection — "They did get full police protection," DeMaagd said. "I'd be willing to meet with them, if it is within the jurisdiction of the City of Whitewater."

The city's police, he said, were being assisted by patrols from nearby Port Atkinson and from Walworth County as a result of the clashes late Monday and early Tuesday. The city enacted a curfew Tuesday night. There was no curfew Wednesday.

Carter said hearings are scheduled Jan. 5 to determine how long to maintain suspension of the 10 Negro students.

Specific complaints will be discussed at the hearings, he said. Four other students are to be informed of complaints against them prior to the hearings, he said.

Two more students were cleared of involvement in the clashes.

East Germans Seek Dialogue With West

BONN, Germany (AP) — Bonn by the highest-ranking letter to Heinemann in Bonn Walter Ulbricht, East German East German delegation ever returned to East Berlin president and Communist party received in the West German after lunch.

Ahlers said the Western allies — the United States, Britain and France — would be informed of the note's contents.

The 1951 exchange came to nothing because the East Germans insisted that Bonn give full recognition to the East German regime.

The Ulbricht message came two days after the United States, Britain and France sent diplomatic notes to Moscow, proposing talks on improving the access to West Berlin, which is 110 miles inside East German territory.

He said it was related to Wednesday's Volkskammer resolution but did not directly mention it. He found the East German resolution "interesting" but declined to give any further assessment of it.

Ahlers said the two East German crossed into West Germany at the Helldorf border crossing point and told border officials they wanted to deliver

Nixon Asks For Cutback In Spending

'Economy at Stake'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says his fight against inflation is in danger but could be rescued if Congress forgets "the cost in political popularity" and cuts down federal spending.

"At stake is nothing less than the future of the American economy," Nixon said in a Dutchman's letter sent to House and Senate leaders Wednesday.

The President said his $192.9 billion federal spending ceiling is threatened by $6 billion in rising costs that are beyond his control and added millions dictated by congressional action — and inaction.

The letter, timed to coincide with Congress' efforts to pass a tax reform bill and complete action on appropriation measures for the current fiscal year, also said:

Responsible Path

"The responsible path toward protecting the buying power of the consumer's dollar is clear. But the Congress has not appeared willing to take that path."

The keynote of Nixon's 1,200-word message was responsibility. "The Congress, along with the executive branch, carries the responsibility for the economic health of the nation," he told the leaders.

Nixon coupled his plea for responsibility with a new attack on the tax reform bill, now before a conference committee for long hours each day in an effort to compromise the Senate and House versions.

Substitution

"The Congress appears to be well on its way to substituting tax reduction for tax reform," he said. "This will harm rather than help the average taxpayer."

Sugar-coating a bitter pill is understandable, but all sugar-coating and no pill will not help the patient.

"A tax cut for some citizens would mean a rise in prices for every citizen."

And because of the way money multiplies as it moves from spender to spender, Nixon said, "A billion dollars of federal spending or tax relief can add many times that amount to the escalation of our rising price levels."

Most Unfair

"Inflation—the hole in everybody's pocket—is the most unfair tax of all," he said.

Despite the fact that a combination of congressional action and inaction would load an additional $5 billion onto an already overheated economy," Nixon said, "recent Senate tax actions, would if approved, actually take $1.6 billion away from revenues."

It is this combination of added spending—such as $1 billion the Senate added Tuesday to the health and education appropriation—and revenue loss written into the tax bill that appeared to disturb Nixon most.

Veto Promised

He has said he will veto the bill if it contains both a personal exemption increase from $600 to $800 and a 15 per cent boost in Social Security payments, as the Senate version does.

Although he did not spell it out, the combination he described would total $6.6 billion in last revenues, which is more than the $5.9 billion budget surplus the Budget Bureau predicts for the fiscal year ending next June.

No one speaking for the administration has specifically predicted a deficit but a member of the Federal Reserve Board, J. Deane Dwayne, said last month a sizable one could occur if the income surtax isn't near party-line vote, was extended, the 7 per cent investment tax credit isn't repealed as a too-wide grant of power.

Three hours after the letter was released, the House voted to renew prices are firmly tied to government spending and consumer confidence to a belief the "government will maintain its commitment to a responsible fiscal policy."

Otherwise, he said, "inflationary expectations will raise prices and interest rates further."

"We stand at the crossroads of credibility," he said, facing a choice between retaining or losing control of the budget and spending.

But if we miss this opportunity, the combination he described would total $6.6 billion in last revenues, which is more than the $5.9 billion budget surplus the Budget Bureau predicts for the fiscal year ending next June.

21-Year Research Ends Hunt for Flying Saucers Called Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Edward U. Condon, chief of a panel which recommended an end to the flying saucer hunt, says "there's no reason why the government should spend a lot of money checking up on lights in the sky."

Neither national security nor science were being served, the Air Force said in announcing an end Wednesday to 21-year-old project Blue Book, which kept voluminous files on reported sightings of unidentified flying objects.

"At a time of declining scientific research budgets," said

Condon, "it would be foolishness of the worst sort (for the government) to devote some of these resources to such a fruitless field of investigation."

He was commenting on recommendations made elsewhere that the government now turn over the flying saucer probe to some other federal agency or private organization.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent on Blue Book in addition to the $539,000 for the Condon panel's 18-month study.

The University of Colorado physicist, in a telephone interview from Boulder, Colo., said though there are "plenty of kooks" who claim otherwise, "nobody has produced a shred of solid, credible evidence to support the idea that these UFOs represent visitors from outer space."

However, Condon emphasized the panel's January report, "also said that if any scientist came up with a clearly defined specific proposal for study, and he was professionally qualified he should be supported."

No Evidence

While there is no evidence of interplanetary visitors, he said, he was not saying this meant there never were, nor never could be, visitors from other worlds.

What now if someone wants to report a UFO?

The Air Force said it had no specific recommendation, but the viewer could pass on his information to a scientist, check signals with the local air base, or call the police department.

A member of the House space committee, Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., urged that investigation of UFOs be the responsibility of the National Aeronautics and Space Agency.
